

JAPS COMPLETE OCCUPATION OF HANKOW AREA

CHARRED LINER IS HARBOR-BOUND IN CHOPPY ATLANTIC

Captain of German Ship Tells of Night Fire In Mid-Ocean

New York, Oct. 26.—(AP)—Fire aboard ship in perilous gale-whipped seas of the North Atlantic remained a nightmarish memory today to 591 passengers and 392 crew members on the Deutschland as the German liner plodded toward port with her innards charred by flames.

An electrifying "SOS" flashed through the air early last night when fire broke out in the ship's No. 2 hold, after an explosion of unexplained nature.

"Assistance necessary urgently," crackled over the radio waves. Then—

"Fire in room (hold) No. 2." A "quiet period" was quickly ordered on the seas and observed by ships far and near.

Ships' wireless closed transmitters and bent their ears toward the position 200 miles southeast of Cape Race, Newfoundland, where the flame-periled Deutschland was rolling.

The weather bureau last night reported gales were blowing in the vicinity, but the ship's master, Capt. Karl Steincke, in a telephone conversation with the Associated Press today reported the seas were quiet at the time the fire was discovered.

"Danger—help necessary," said the frantic, repeated calls from the German liner.

Location Broadcast
Its location was broadcast time after time, and ships within range turned about, surging off course in a mad race to help.

Land bases and ships received and intercepted and relayed a maze of alarming reports.

After a winning two-hour battle with the flames, Capt. Karl Steincke, master of the ill-starred veteran of four other mishaps at sea, radioed to the New York office of the Associated Press, at 7:29 p. m. (CST):

"Under Control"

"Fire under control!"
Hours later, the home office of the Deutschland in Hamburg was advised by the master that the fire was completely controlled, that ship and passengers were no longer in danger.

Most passengers retired in the early morning hours to safe but troubled slumbers.

Captain Steincke said not a single passenger was injured and that he hoped to continue to New York soon.

The middle-sized 15-year-old ship, pride of the post-war German republic, left Hamburg last Thursday and was due in New York next Friday.

It is of 21,046 tons and is similar to three other ships built by the Hamburg American for the transatlantic service.

The southeasterly gale and rain sweeping the Newfoundland banks increased the Deutschland's peril while the fire was raging in the hold.

Gale Comes Up

Fear was felt that rescuers would be unable to reach the liner in time to take off passengers that the gale would whip the flames beyond control should they leap out of the hold.

The rough seas added also to the danger of abandoning ship in life boats and on rafts.
Passengers were at dinner, dancing or in the cocktail lounges when the dread cry of "fire!" swept the ship. First efforts to confine the blaze apparently were futile but the flames did not disable the radio.

Finally quelling the immediate danger, Captain Steincke and his radio operator set to the task of turning back all but three of the ships racing to help.

CAPTAIN'S STORY

Editor's note: The following is the story of the fire aboard the Hamburg-American liner Deutschland as related by the vessel's master in a ship-to-shore conversation with the Associated Press:

By CAPT. KARL STEINCKE,

Master of the S. S. Deutschland.

(By Ship-to-Shore Telephone)

The fire has been extinguished.

We are in no danger and we hope to have the Deutschland in New York Friday about 7 o'clock in the evening.

The passengers behaved admirably. They were quiet and some of them didn't even seem to be aware that anything was happening.

The fire was in No. 2 hold where we were carrying a general cargo. I don't know yet how the fire started. You ask who discovered it. I'll tell you it discovered itself. Understand. Smoke began

Big Game Hunter

Alpine, Utah, Oct. 26.—(AP)—Marlowe Bennett, 4, heard the growl of a deer hunting season. That gave him an idea.

Taking his father's high-powered rifle, he sallied forth into the barnyard and shot his first "big game."

DIES ASSERTS HE WILL DO WORK IN SPITE OF REBUKE

Chief of Investigating Committee Undeterred By Roosevelt

Washington, Oct. 26.—(AP)—President Roosevelt's rebuke of the house committee on un-American activities brought from Chairman Dies (D-Tex) today a declaration that he would continue to do his "duty undeterred and unafraid."

Dies took direct issue with the chief executive, who accused the committee of making no effort to learn the truth of testimony that Gov. Frank Murphy of Michigan had acted treasonably during a sit-down strike early last year.

"Under my conception of public duty," Dies said, "it would have been wrong to shield Governor Murphy simply because he was a Democrat and a strong friend of the president."

Roosevelt, on the other hand, asserted the committee has permitted itself "to be used in a flagrantly unfair and un-American attempt to influence an election." (Murphy is running for another term.)

Murphy's Name Comes Up
Murphy's name had come before the committee last Friday during an inquiry into the question of whether communists had a hand in Michigan sit-down strikes.

John M. Barringer, former Republican city manager of Flint, Mich., testified the governor was guilty of "treasonable action in not giving us help when we should have had it" during a strike in the Fisher boat plant.

Paul V. Godola, a Republican judge who granted a writ for the release of the strikers, said Murphy had prevented Sheriff Thomas Wolcott from carrying out the order.

Questioned about the testimony at press conference yesterday, Roosevelt said he preferred to write out a statement. In it, he spoke of "the absurdly false charges made by a coterie of disgruntled Republican office holders against a profoundly religious, able and law-abiding governor."

"Lurid Charges"

The committee allowed its witnesses to make "lurid charges" against Murphy. Roosevelt said, "without attempting to elicit from them facts as to their undeniable bias and their charges and without

Plowman's Store Has Largest Grocery Ad

On pages 7 to 10, inclusive, of today's issue Plowman's Busy store is carrying the largest single grocery advertisement ever published in the Evening Telegraph. This section is carried in observance of the store's sixteenth anniversary in Dixon.

Roy Plowman was the original owner of the concern when it started in 1922 in business at 96 Galena avenue. It was purchased at that time from A. W. Kramer. Ten years later, the store was moved to the Huffman building at 60 Galena avenue.

Just prior to moving again to the Warner building, 112 East First street, the grocery was purchased by Mr. Plowman's son, Carl, who now retains sole control. The Warner building was occupied from 1935 until April 1937, at which time the grocery was moved into its present modern and spacious quarters in the L. G. Rorer building.

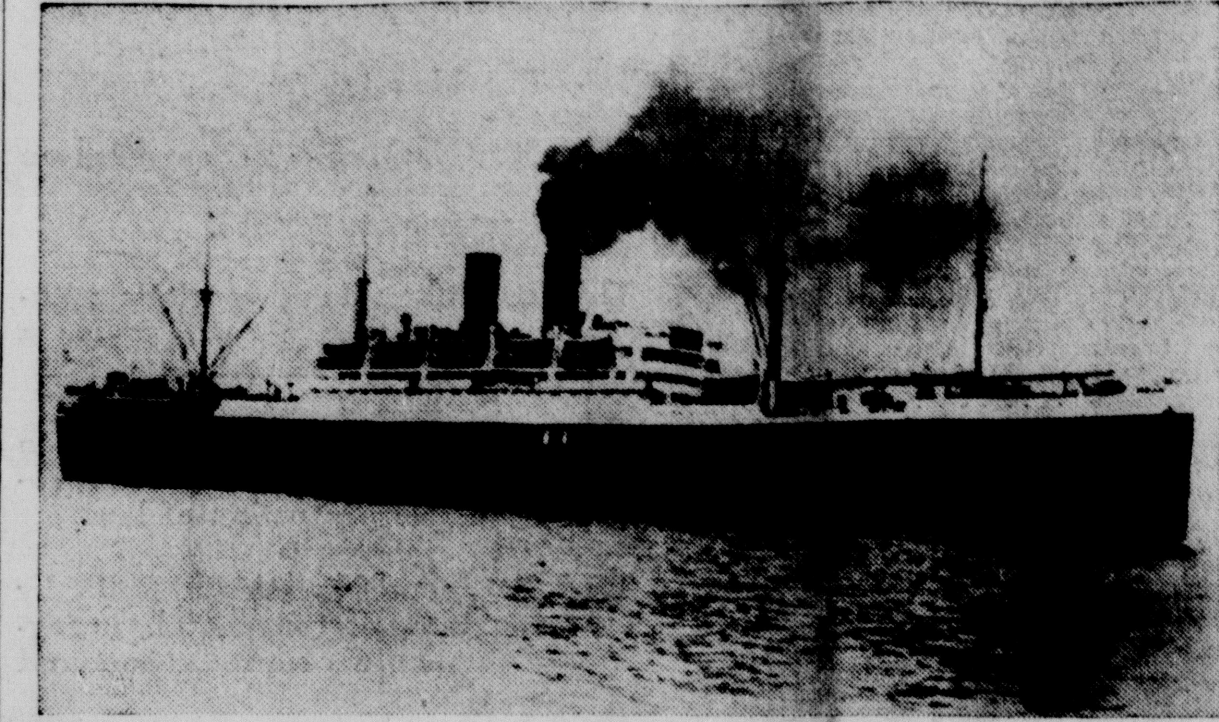

President Proclaims Armistice Day With Recipe for Good Will Among the Nations

Washington, Oct. 26.—(AP)—President Roosevelt, proclaiming November 11 Armistice Day, said today that "peace can be obtained only by non-aggression."

The President's proclamation, issued in conformity with various congressional resolutions, said:

"It is especially fitting at this time of world unrest that November 11, 1938, the twentieth anniversary of the Armistice, should be observed with suitable ceremonies manifesting our belief that

Fire Perils Liner at Sea

The German liner Deutschland, above, with 1,600 persons aboard, sent out distress signals from a point 200 miles off Cape Race, Newfoundland, saying that the boat was on fire. Later reports claimed that the fire was under control, and that none of the rescue boats had arrived.

BORAH THINKS ANY PROTEST ON ACTION TO JEWS IS UNWISE

Washington, Oct. 26.—(AP)—

Senator Borah (R-Idaho) said today protests against possible British action to close Palestine to Jewish immigrants might involve the United States in "a delicate and dangerous situation."

In a letter to Rabbi Stephen S. Wise of New York Borah expressed belief this country would have to be prepared to assume obligations of a mandatory power if it advised Great Britain what to do in Palestine.

He declined an invitation from Rabbi Wise to speak in New York Nov. 2 at a mass meeting called to protest against any cessation of Jewish immigration.

"We cannot retain the respect of Europe and not long our own self respect by directing nations how they shall carry out their treaties and obligations, and do nothing but direct," Borah wrote.

He said he believed British obligations would be "faithfully kept."

"But I think strongly," he added, "that Great Britain is now placed in a very delicate and dangerous situation and that we may not be helping the cause in which you are interested by holding a mass meeting which would have no justification except on the theory that she (Great Britain) is proposing to do a reprehensible thing."

"Unless we are prepared to go much farther than this country would be willing to go and assume primary obligations in regard to this matter ourselves, will it not be far more effective in this cause to trust to the patience, the wisdom and the honor of the mandatory power to work out the problem in accordance with its obligations?"

WPA Begins Work on Conversion of Canal

Ottawa, Ill., Oct. 26.—(AP)—Work was started yesterday on a WPA sponsored project that was estimated to require almost two years and when completed will mark the conversion of the old Illinois and Michigan canal into a stream for recreation activities.

About 80 WPA employees started the job of converting the canal, between Ottawa and LaSalle, but officials said about 400 men eventually would be employed.

Construction of the canal, started about 1838 and finished in 1848, connected LaSalle and Ottawa with another canal at Joliet. The canal was widely used for shipping between these points and Chicago, but was abandoned several years ago after completion of the new Illinois waterway.

THIS TOOTHACHE HELPED

Pittsfield, Ill.—(AP)—Twelve-year-old Wanda Garvin's inability to sleep because of a toothache apparently saved the lives of her parents and a sister yesterday.

Wanda discovered her home on fire, but she aroused her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Garvin, and a sister in time to escape from the burning house.

CORONER'S COUNSEL GRANTED FILING OF AMENDED PETITION

Counsel for Dr. Kenyon R. Segner, Lee county coroner, appeared before Judge Albert H. Manus of Freeport in the circuit court yesterday afternoon and the court granted the filing of an amended petition to the mandamus proceeding which has been filed against Chairman Henry L. Gehant, Clerk Sterling D. Schrock and members of the board of supervisors of Lee county. The amendment granted leave to the plaintiff's counsel to include Lee county in the proceeding.

The hearing was originally set to be heard before Judge Manus yesterday but will probably not be heard at the September term, it was indicated today. Judge Manus has ruled on one action brought into the circuit court by Coroner Segner and it is probable the mandamus hearing may be heard before Judge Zick of Oregon who is now on the bench in the Ogle county circuit court.

The action was brought by Coroner Segner in an effort to secure payment of claims which he has filed with the board of supervisors, which have been rejected and unpaid. His counsel intimated today that the hearing would be held on an early date.

SHORTAGE OF WPA LABOR THREATENS COUNTY PROGRAM

Shortage of WPA labor in Lee county threatens to delay the $650,000 program as outlined by the board of supervisors and approved by the federal agency, it was stated today at the office of County Superintendent of Highways, Fred W. Leake. The road and bridge committee was said to have declined the purchasing of materials to be used in the county project, pending assurance that sufficient labor would be available. Superintendent Leake and the road and bridge committee will go to Rockford Friday to meet with WPA officials to canvass the situation and reach a definite decision.

The $650,000 WPA program in Lee county, provides for the construction of approximately 30 miles of roads on the county highway system and almost a similar mileage in the townships participating in the WPA program, it was stated. The extension of the Lowell park road from route 52 to connect with U. S. route 30 at the Borden condorsary is one of the principal items in the program.

Contracts have been awarded for equipment to be used in constructing storm water and other drainage structures, but until assurance is given that a sufficient number of workmen can be furnished, the road and bridge committee was reported to be withholding delivery of the materials.

The project throughout the county was drafted to provide employment for 290 WPA workers and Superintendent Leake stated today that at this time but 175 have been furnished from the rolls. He further added, that the committee would not order material for projects until assurance was given that sufficient labor was available.

Former Ambassador Says Nations Must Cooperate

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 26.—(AP)—Dr. William E. Dodd, former United States ambassador to Germany, said at a forum meeting last night, the United States should start a movement "for democracies to work together instead of competing."

The former University of Chicago professor declared "the war situation of today, which has been unprecedented for 500 years, can only be side-stepped by co-operation on the part of democratic governments."

Dr. Dodd said he believed it was Germany's intention to enforce "a gradual control of international trade to block the democracies wherever they compete."

Shawneetown Makes New Site Away from Ohio River Floods an Official Part of City

Shawneetown, Ill., Oct. 26.—(AP)—Shawneetown's new site, safely removed from flood-menacing waters, was officially a part of the city today.

The new land, three miles west of here, was annexed by the city council last night after authorization at a special election. The proposition carried, 715 to 240.

The council took the action as soon as the vote was canvassed, permitting the present city government to continue in control

Lot of Bologna Brockton, Mass., Oct. 26.—

A 24-inch piece of bologna, hurled by the former high school football star, felled a fleeing man after a break at a restaurant.

His target and another man were found guilty of breaking and entering the restaurant and held for the grand jury.

HUSKING CONTEST HELD YESTERDAY NEAR MT. MORRIS

Fred Nordman of Paynes Point Wins Event in Ogle County

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.
Corn husking champions from seven additional Illinois counties were crowned in contests yesterday (Tuesday) as plans proceeded for the state championship at Modesto next Monday.

Two thousand persons attended the Ogle county event at Mt. Morris where Fred Nordman of Paynes Point was declared the champion with 41,026 bushels husked in 80 minutes. Last year's champion, Wilkey Mammen of Davis Junction was ninth with 36,002 bushels. This contest was held on the Ira Bear farm west of Mt. Morris.

In Bureau County. Contestants in the Bureau county event met lively competition, with the top four men each husking more than 40 bushels in the allotted 80 minutes. Roy Dremann of Princeton successfully defended his championship, husking 42,133 bushels. Arthur Rapp of Princeton was second with 40,891; Leo Didied, Arlington, third, 40,613, and Harold J. Perkins, Tampico, fourth, 40,454.

John Timm of Genoa, last year's winner of the DeKalb county contest, saw Wilbur Challaad of Shabons husk 39,611 bushels to win first place. Timm's 38,844 bushels was good for third place. Clifford Schmidt of Sycamore beating him with 38,89.

Harlan Kohl of Blue Mount retained his Macon county title by husking 29,022 bushels, far short of the county records of 37,69 bushels he set last year.

Vermilion County.

A crowd of 3,000 persons attended the Vermilion county event, won by Coy York of Ross-ville with a mark of 29,54 bushels. York dethroned Elmer Martin, champion for five years.

Richard Metzler was another 1937 champion who gained entrance to the state meet when he won the Rock Island county title by tossing a net load of 33.9 bushels. Dale Lindgren, runner-up to Metzler last year, again was second with 32.95 bushels.

Macoupin County Champ.

At Carlinville, Kayo Hildebrand of Milwood took the Macoupin county championship, husking 23 bushels, 38 pounds.

George Christian, Sadorus, successfully defended his championship county championship with 34,578 bushels. Louis Lorenzen, Foosland, was second with 33,278 bushels. Christian has won five county titles. He won the Douglas county title in 1934, moved to Champaign county the following year and has won four there. Two thousand persons saw the contest.

Fire Destroy Cottages Near Pines State Park

(Telegraph Special Service)

Polo, Oct. 26.—Fire of an unknown origin destroyed two cottages just outside the western limits of the Pines State park early last night.

The cottages, belonging to Ed Duffey and Plurey Powell both of Polo, were covered by insurance, but early estimates placed the loss of furniture at $300.

John Keegan, custodian of the park noticed the flames about 5:30 last evening and notified Powell. By that time the Powell cottage was lost. The two houses were unoccupied.

NEIGHBOR CITIES FALL ALONG WITH CHINESE CAPITAL

Nipponese Now Control About Half of People of Chinese Nation

Shanghai, Oct. 26.—(AP)—Japanese and foreign dispatches tonight reported that the Japanese army and navy had completed occupation of Hankow and its sister Wuhan cities, Wuchang and HanYang.

Twenty-six Japanese steamed up the broad Yangtze river to a position off Hankow's Japanese concession, the dispatches said, and army units totalling several thousand men marched into the former provisional capital from the northeast.

Shortly thereafter a Japanese infantry force of about 2,000 moved into the international area along the Yangtze waterfront and took over control from the foreign authorities who had organized an emergency regime following the Chinese abandonment of the city.

Mopping Up Operations.

Details of the occupation of Wuchang, separated from Hankow by the mile-wide Yangtze, were not immediately available. Earlier reports said Japanese infantry columns driving in along the south bank of the Yangtze had met stiff Chinese resistance in the flaming city and were engaged in mopping-up operations.

Japanese dispatches did not report the occupation of HanYang, once busy industrial city across the Han river from Hankow, but foreign advices said the invaders entered the third of the Wuhan communities late today.

Not Much Fighting.

Earlier reports had indicated that Chinese were retaining some position in Yangyang. But available information tonight indicated that the Japanese had gained the huge mid-China metropolitan area with almost no fighting at the end except the street battles in Wuchang.

The Wuhan cities, with a normal population of about 1,700,000 form the transportation, industrial and commercial heart of central China, and Hankow for nearly a year has been provisional capital and center of Chinese resistance.

NEW DEFENSE LINES

Chinese troops dug up new defense lines southwest of Hankow today while victorious Japanese forces took possession of the once-proud but now nearly desolated Wuhan cities.

Japanese warships steamed cautiously through mine fields in the Yangtze river below Hankow, sister city of Wuchang and HanYang. Infantry units made forced marches from the north and west to help preceding troops overcome street fighting in flaming Wuchang.

Japanese warplanes roared over the tri-cities despite rain and heavily bombed retreating Chinese. Machine gun fire blazed in the Hankow suburbs, indicating the Japanese vanguards were meeting resistance in attempts to consolidate positions in the erstwhile capital they entered yesterday.

Explosions

Explosion after explosion in Chinese-mined buildings rocked the metropolitan area so that no more than necessary would be left the conquerors.

The Chinese, in what was called a strategic withdrawal from Hankow as the invaders entered, presumably aimed to make a stand along the 30-mile highway westward between HanYang and HanChan and among the swamps and lakes on the Yangtze's north bank.

After 477 days of severe fighting, Japanese have penetrated and occupied major communication lines, cities and towns through 13 provinces.

Half of Chinese Conquered

The conquered territories contain approximately 575,000 square miles and a population of about 200,000,000, nearly half the population of China.

Dispatches reaching Shanghai from Chungking quoted high Chinese officials who reached that haven from Hankow as saying emphatically that Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek nevertheless was determined to conduct prolonged resistance against the Japanese without intention of suing for peace.

The fugitive leaders were said to have asserted surrender now would cause a loss of everything while continuous resistance would mean Japan ultimately would be unable to carry the financial burden of invasion.

Chinese Still Fighting

They said also an army of 1,000,000 Chinese was still in the

REVERSE DIVORCE AFTER WOMAN HAS MARRIED 4th MAN

Heiress' Marital Life Is Once More Paraded
Through Courts

Chicago, Oct. 26.—(AP)—Merry Fahrney, whose marital life has been paraded through the courts for the last five years, found herself in a new tangle today when the appellate court reversed the divorce from her third husband less than two months after she took her fourth.

The patent medicine heiress' latest mate is Count Oleg Cassini, a boyish 26-year-old dress designer whom she married in an elaborate Russian Orthodox ceremony in New York, September 17. Members of exiled Russian noble families attended. Two weeks earlier they had eloped to Elkton, Md.

On February 3, 1938, she obtained a divorce from Baron Asturo Berlingieri, an Italian nobleman she had married July 31, 1937, in Harrison, N. Y. Cruelty was the ground for the break with No. 3.

This divorce was thrown out by the appellate court which in a blistering opinion stated:

"An Industry"
"The obtaining and granting of divorces has almost become an industry. It is now time that those charged with upholding the law clean these 'Augean stables.'"

The opinion held she had failed to prove she or her husband was an Illinois resident, as required by law, and that the acts of cruelty complained of occurred in California. It also questioned the adequacy of the alleged facts.

Merry's attorney, Frank Cantwell, said he would ask a rehearing and go before the Illinois supreme court in an effort to avoid having her fall under the legal status of a bigamist.

Merry, blonde and 27 years old, first was married to Hugh Pickering, New York society figure and sportsman from whom she was divorced in 1932. Number 2 was Frank V. Elsner whose marriage to her was annulled in 1934.

The Fahrney marital mixup involved Merry in a suit with her son, Peter Parker Pickering, 6, over the $3,500,000 fortune of the late Dr. Peter Fahrney, her grandfather.

Soviet Fighters Are Decorated for Service

Moscow, Oct. 26.—(AP)—Pravda and Izvestia, organs of the Communist party and the government, today printed a long list of Soviet fighters decorated for distinguished service in the "defeat" of the Japanese at Changkufeng last July and August.

Marshal Vassily K. Bluecher, commander-in-chief of the Red Army in the East, was not mentioned, increasing mystification in foreign circles of his whereabouts.

Three other officers, however—Corps Commander Grigori Stern, chief of the first Primorsk army, Division Commander Feodor Simenovsky and Brigade Commander Pavel Rychagoff—were decorated with the order of the Red Banner "for successful management of military operations at Lake Chanchi"—the Changkufeng area.

Marshal Bluecher's name has not been mentioned recently in the Soviet Press, leading to reports he has been demoted or arrested.

Nation Faces Shortage Of Aircraft Mechanics

Washington, Oct. 26.—(AP)—President Roosevelt's efforts to end a shortage of aircraft mechanics gave fresh emphasis today to reports that the projected revision of national defenses will include substantial increase in the air corps.

At his press conference yesterday Roosevelt said he was studying the need for training a large number of aircraft mechanics.

He also commented that a 1935 study of air force needs, on which the army's present construction goal of 2,320 first-line war planes was based, had become definitely out of date.

Roosevelt discussed the aircraft mechanic shortage yesterday with Louis Johnson, assistant secretary of war; Charles Edison, assistant secretary of the Navy, and Aubrey Williams, National Youth Administrator.

Broker Reports Chauffeur And Jewelry Are Missing

New York, Oct. 26.—(AP)—Police of eight states today sought a wealthy investment and insurance broker's chauffeur whose employer reported him and $200,000 in jewelry missing.

Edward N. Townsend, Jr., the broker, told police last night that the chauffeur, George Fleming, 38, drove Mrs. Townsend to Manhattan from their home at Syosset, L. I., and had then been directed to take the jewelry and luggage to the Hotel St. Regis.

Townsend said he learned later the chauffeur had not arrived at the hotel. He said he did not believe the chauffeur had stolen the jewelry, although the car also was missing.

Elmer Does Double Duty

That old saw "busy as a one-armed paperhanger," has given way in Washington to "busy as Elmer Andrews"—and his two hands and two ears seem none too many in this picture. The much-questioned administrator of the wage-hour law speeds up his listening by jamming phones against both ears as queries pour in on the operation of the new law.

LINCOLN-DOUGLAS TIP SHAKES OHIO VOTERS TO ACTION

Youngstown, O., Oct. 26.—(AP)—A tip from Lincoln and Douglas has "shaken Ohio voters loose from their inertia."

Taking a cue from the debaters of the slavery question, Ohio's senatorial candidates, Republican Robert A. Taft and Robert J. Bulkley, Democratic incumbent, have met in four of a series of six debates on New Deal policies—and "standing room only" signs have been hung out for all their political forensics.

As the series went into the home stretch, Taft, son of the late president and Chief Justice William Howard Taft, summed up with satisfaction today the effect of the debates which he proposed.

"The idea was to get people to discuss issues and give them more excitement in the campaign. It has shaken voters loose from their inertia."

The debates have attracted national attention and, as a result, some observers contend Ohio may be a possible testing ground of New Deal popularity in the Nov. 8 elections.

Occasionally the arguments have injected "personalities" into the campaign—charges of "slush funds" and violation of the corrupt practices act—but beneath it all the hands are gloved.

50 Injured in Train Collision in France

Valenciennes, France, Oct. 26.—(AP)—Heavy fog was blamed today for a rear-end collision of two trains in which 50 miners were injured.

A passenger train carrying the miners to work smashed into a standing freight train at Bruay near here. Fifteen of the 50 were taken to a hospital.

CHICAGO SYSTEMS ANNOUNCE A PLAN FOR RAIL MERGER

Draft of Proposal Filed
With the Interstate Commerce Group

Chicago, Oct. 26.—(AP)—Stockholders of the Chicago and North Western railway and the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific announced here today they had agreed on a preliminary plan for consolidation of the two far flung systems. A draft of the proposal was filed with the interstate commerce commission.

The plan which attorneys said would make possible an annual saving of at least $10,000,000 and probably more in operation of the two roads would involve sale of $80,000,000 of first mortgage bonds. Part of the proceeds would be used to satisfy bank creditors and retire loans advanced by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

The two roads, which have combined assets exceeding $1,400,000,000 and operate nearly 20,000 miles of main track north and west of Chicago, have had reorganization plans before the ICC for some time. Recently Jesse Jones, RFC chairman, said the government agency had practically abandoned studies of possible consolidation.

New Corporation

The plan contemplates formation of a new corporation which would coordinate properties of the roads. Proceeds from sale of the new company's $80,000,000 first mortgage bond would go to retire $52,657,000 aggregate obligations of the North Western, including debt to the RFC, banks and other collateral loans and claims except equipment obligations which would be assumed. Proceeds also would retire the $13,647,609 loan of the RFC to the Milwaukee. This would leave $13,700,000 for cash working fund. Interest rate on the new bonds due in 1988 would be 3½ per cent.

The new company would be managed by a directorate of 15 members chosen by a committee representing the institutional investors holding Milwaukee securities, the life insurance group of the North Western, the mutual savings bank group of the North Western, labor organizations of both roads, present directors and stockholders committees.

Chicago Lady Abducted And Held for Five Hours

Chicago, Oct. 26.—(AP)—Mrs. Adele Schreiner, 51, wife of a grain broker, was under a physician's care today after being abducted and held prisoner for five hours.

Mrs. Schreiner told the police a young man with blond hair entered her car late yesterday as she was parking it near her home, the Windermere hotel, and forced her to drive to Hammond, Ind.

The man, Mrs. Schreiner said, held a pistol to her head on their aimless drive in the neighborhood of Hammond and their return to Chicago. The gunman struck her on the head during the ride and threatened to kill her if she informed the police. She was suffering from a scalp wound.

The abductor drove away in Mrs. Schreiner's car after ordering her out of it on the far south side.

TREASURY WILL GET $635,000 FROM THE SWEEPSTAKE PRIZES

Washington, Oct. 26.—(AP)—Treasury experts estimated today they would collect $635,000 in income taxes on the $1,775,000 of major prizes won by Americans on the Ceasarewitch sweepstakes race.

The exact amount of the taxes will depend on other income of the prize winners, but assuming all the prize money is taxable at minimum rates, the treasury bill is as follows:

$65,000 from each of the seven who won $150,000 each on the first place Contrevent.

$20,120 from each of the seven who won $75,000 each on the second place Dubonnet.

$9,700 from each of the four who won $50,000 a piece on the third place Fet.

And the holders of tickets on non-winning horses and recipients of residual and consolation awards will have to hand over to the government a part of their prizes, too, but of course the amount won't be nearly so much.

Illinois Congressmen File Campaign Costs

Washington, Oct. 26.—(AP)—Two Illinois congressmen are included among the 30 candidates for the house of representatives who have filed statements with the clerk of the house covering their campaign expenditures and contributions.

Both Representatives Sabath and McAndrews Democrats of Chicago, reported no contributions and no expenditures.

AMERICANS MADE RICH OVER NIGHT BY SWEEPSTAKES

Nearly Three and a Half Million Won by Ticket Holders in U. S. A.

New York, Oct. 26.—(AP)—Ticket holders in the United States won $3,489,162.50 as a result of the Irish hospital sweepstakes in connection with the 100th running of the Cesarewitch race at Newmarket, England, today.

Seven tickets on Contevent, winner of the race, were held in the United States and paid $150,000 each for a total of $1,050,000.

Americans also held seven tickets on Dubonnet, second place winner, gaining $75,000 each for another $525,000, and four tickets on the third horse, Fet, winning $50,000 each for $200,000 more.

Five hundred and ninety-nine other Americans held tickets worth $2,187.50 on non-winning horses for a total of $1,310,412.50. Prizes already awarded to Americans included 25 residual awards of $530 each for $13,250 and 781 consolation awards of $500 each for $390,500.

Total receipts of the sweepstakes, the 25th to be held, were approximately $12,232,405. Of this amount about $7,026,500 was allocated to prize winners.

FRENCH-BRED HORSE

Newmarket, Eng., Oct. 26.—(AP)—Contevent, French-bred 3-year-old owned by Princesse De Faucigny-Lucinge, today won the hundredth running of the classic Cesarewitch at two miles and a quarter, the race on which running depended the distribution of approximately $7,000,000 of Irish hospital sweepstakes prizes.

Dubonnet Second

J. P. Hornung's Dubonnet was second and E. Benson's Fet third. William Woodward's Olympus, only American-owned entry in the field of twenty-eight starters, failed to place.

Contevent started as a 100-7 shot, with Dubonnet also quoted at 100 to 7 and Fet at 9 to 1. The French horse finished a length and a half in front of Dubonnet, with Fet in third place by the same margin.

It was the second victory this season of a French entry in an English turf classic, for Bois Rousset captured the Epsom Derby.

The winner's time was 3 minutes 55.2 seconds.

AMERICAN WINNERS

New York City, Oct. 26.—(AP)—Four tickets held by Americans won Fet, third place winner, paid $500,000 each.

Holders of tickets on Contevent were listed as:

"Kant Win," Bronx, New York City.

Mrs. V. Strauss, New York City.

"Lucky Dreamer," Greensboro, N. C.

Spritzels Mael, Bronx, New York City.

Elwood Horne, Cincinnati, O.

"Aggie," Los Angeles, Calif.

Mickey Is "Warmed"

Holders of tickets on Dubonnet:

"Never Win," Seabright, N. J. Mary Hourican, New York City. Mary Racz, Buffalo, N. Y. M. A. Carter, Pittsburgh.

R. E. Spurlach, Chicago. Florence Crider, Horton, Kas.

"Brown County Ducky," Los Angeles.

Holders of tickets on Fet:

"Two Black Cats," Leominster, Mass.

"Al-el," Bronx, New York City. J. A. Dean, Akron, Ohio.

Rose Masterbone, Bristol, Conn. Elwood Horne, Cincinnati, O.

MINING ACCIDENTS.

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 26.—(AP)—The Mines and Minerals department reported today six fatal coal mining accidents in September in Illinois brought mine deaths to 61 this year.

Non-fatal accidents during the first nine months of the year totaled 1,983. There were two deaths last month in Macoupin county and one each in Madison, Franklin, Peoria and St. Clair.

DEDICATES STATE ARCHIVES HOME AT SPRINGFIELD

Classic New Limestone Structure to House Illinois History

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 26.—(AP)—The new state archives building—the $850,000 classic limestone structure which houses the documentary history of Illinois—was dedicated today.

Archivists from all parts of the country, historians, public officials and interested citizens walked through its halls, tea was served, and speeches were made. Presiding at the dedication ceremony was Secretary of State Edward J. Hughes.

Present with a congratulatory message from President Roosevelt was United States Archivist Robert D. W. Connor of Washington, D. C. The dedication was the concluding event of the annual Society of American Archivists' meeting.

In Use Since February

Miss Margaret Cross Norton state superintendent of archives, will have charge of the building which has been in use since February. It was built following the million dollar fire which in 1934 destroyed the state arsenal and many valued state records kept there. It is located on the southwest corner of the state capitol grounds.

Four Illinois secretaries of state were honored at the dedication—a hall or room was named for each. Secretary Hughes, who sponsored the building appropriation act, was one of them. Others honored were former Secretary Governor Louis L. Emmerson, George H. Harlow, secretary from 1873 to 1881, and Nathaniel Pope, secretary of the Illinois territory, 1809 to 1816.

Pope made the first record entry in the executive register, a journal still kept by the secretary of state as a record of the governor's official acts.

The building's vaults, Miss Norton said, contain rich unexploited records dealing with the war of 1812, the Black Hawk war, and the expulsion of the Mormons from Nauvoo. There, also, are the first constitution of Illinois which survived the Vandalla state house fire of 1823 and Abraham Lincoln's first bill, written in his own handwriting and submitted to the Illinois house Dec. 9, 1834.

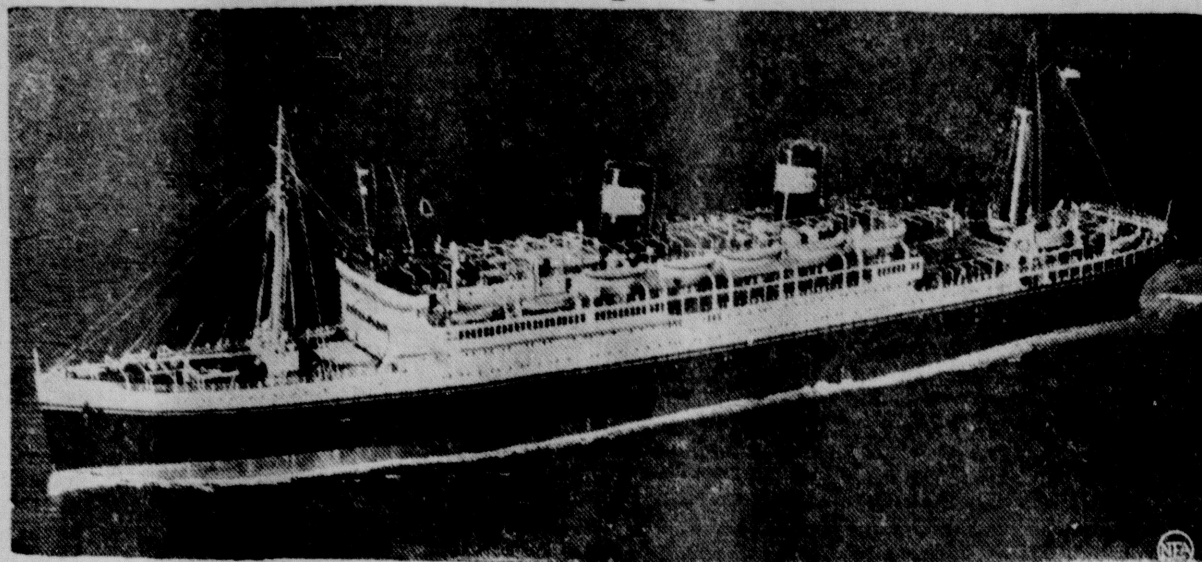

The building, the most modern storehouse of records, has provisions for protection of its contents from fire and other damage. It has twelve vault levels, each air conditioned and protected by automatic fire doors.

Cotton, tin cans, molasses, aluminum, iron, rubber, and a mixture of surface oil are used in some parts of the world as a foundation for highways.

Detained by Japanese

Japanese authorities at Shanghai prevented the sailing from that port of an American ship, the President Coolidge, pictured above, as it was about to depart for the United States with a shipment of $4,500,000 in silver. The metal, mostly jewelry and tableware contributed by Chinese patriots to their government for war purposes, was being shipped to the Chase National Bank of New York. Unable to sail on schedule, the 21,936-ton Dollar liner unloaded the silver hoping to avoid further delay.

ELECTION MAY BE POISON TO HOPES FOR PRESIDENCY

Voting Might Also Put Others in Limelight of Politics

Washington, Oct. 26.—(AP)—The election next month may be a dose of poison for the unspoken hopes of a few men who wouldn't mind being persuaded to accept a presidential nomination.

Likewise, it may set some others clamoring for attention in that backhanded fashion by which friends of politicians put forward claims their principals apparently haven't heard about.

Numerous candidates for governor or senator already have been mentioned as likely Democratic or Republican nominees in 1940 if they win this year. If they lose, the presidential balloon may be punctured.

On G. O. P. Side

On the Republican side, four of those whose names have been pushed to the front are pretty much in the if-they-win category. These are Thomas E. Dewey and Rep. Bruce Barton of New York, Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts and Arthur H. James of Pennsylvania.

If Dewey, who is campaigning for the governorship of New York, should win and put himself into a good fighting position for New York's electoral votes, he would be considered by many a possibility for the 1940 nomination.

Similarly with James and Saltonstall. If they win the governorships of their large states, their friends are likely to be fighting for the nomination for them.

Barton Seeks Re-election

Barton is running for re-election to the House. He has been in demand as a keynoter-for-Republican state conventions and has traveled widely during the campaign.

Five Democrats whose names at one time or another have been tied to presidential speculation are running for the Senate. They are Senators Bennett Clark of Missouri, Walter F. George of Georgia, Millard E. Tydings of Maryland, Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky and Gov. George H. Earle of Pennsylvania.

There are about 400 deer in Richmond Park, London. Badgers, fox, hares and rabbits and more than 100 species of birds also make their homes here.

Negro Prisoner is Shot During Escape Attempt

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 26.—(AP)—Eddie Reel, a Negro prisoner in the psychiatric division of the state prison at Menard, was shot today by a guard during an escape attempt, Welfare Director A. L. Bowen announced.

The prisoner, whose arm was shattered after he had climbed a drain pipe to the top of the prison wall, was sentenced to a long term in Chicago for assault with intent to rape. He was transferred to Menard from Joliet recently for mental treatment. The psychiatric division was the scene several weeks ago of the escape of five insane convicts.

To Conduct Hearings of 382 Illinois Prisoners

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 26.—(AP)—Chairman W. C. Jones of the Illinois parole board said today sub-committees would conduct hearings Monday at the state penal institutions for 382 prisoners seeking their release and for 48 persons charged with parole violation.

Including the parole cases, the November docket lists the cases as follows: Joliet 58; Stateville 142; Menard 83; Pontiac 145; Dwight 2.

Says Average Child Has Three Defective Teeth

St. Louis, Oct. 26.—(AP)—The average Illinois school child has about three defective teeth. Dr. C. F. Deatherage of the Illinois department of health reported to the American Dental Association today.

He said an examination of 50,942 children was conducted in 82 counties between February, 1934, and June, 1938. In the mouths of these youngsters, dentists found 165,836 teeth that needed treatment for decay.

EYESTRAIN GOES OUT
when Light Conditioning comes in LIGHT CONDITIONING provides the right amount and the right kind of lighting for all seeing purposes.

Improper lighting causes eyestrain to young and old. At this time of the year, more visual tasks are performed in the home under artificial light. Proper lighting is vitally necessary.

Don't guess about the lighting in your home—be sure! At your request one of our Home Lighting Advisors will accurately measure the lighting in your home. She will also tell you how to light condition any room. There is no charge or obligation for this service. Simply phone 345.

I. E. S. Better Sight Lamps Help Make Light Conditioning Easy

The abundant, glareless light of I. E. S. Better Sight Lamps will eliminate eyestrain in study and reading. These lamps are different from ordinary lamps in that they are scientifically designed and have a translucent bowl that softens and diffuses the light.

Try one of these lamps in your home and see for yourself that they give several times as much light as other lamps. I. E. S. Better Sight Lamps are sold by:

MAN IS STILL THE MASTER IN GREAT EMERGENCIES

We are fond of saying that this is an age of machinery, and that the ability of the individual man doesn't count for as much now as it used to. But every once in a while something happens to prove that when the machinery goes wrong—as it inevitably does, sooner or later—we are right back in the old spot and have nothing to rely on but the courage and resourcefulness of one man.

An example is that recent wreck of an airliner near Montgomery, Ala.

This liner, bound from Houston to New York, left the Montgomery airport with 14 people aboard shortly after midnight. It reached an altitude of some 1400 feet; in its cabin the lights were dimmed and the passengers were settling back in their seats for an uneventful, drowsy trip. And then came trouble.

The right-hand motor began to vibrate violently. Something was wrong. The sudden vibration broke the motor loose from its fastenings and it fell to the earth. A gas line was severed and the plane took fire, and what had been a routine flight abruptly became an emergency freighted with the dire peril of death.

The emergency was met and passed, and nobody was killed. And why? Because the plane's chief pilot, Dave Hissong, was a cool and capable chap who knew exactly what to do, and was able to keep his head while he did it.

Hissong managed to keep the left wing up while he brought the ship down. With only his landing lights, he sought out an open space on the ground and negotiated a landing. His co-pilot, C. R. Russell, gave him the minutes he needed to do this by cutting the gas line and holding the flames back with an extinguisher. Steward Frank Gibbs saw that the safety belts of the passengers were properly tightened, and stood by to open the cabin door and help them out the moment the plane had stopped.

Nobody got hurt. It was a close call, of course; the occupants had got perhaps 20 yards from the grounded plane before it was consumed in a vast puff of flames. All in all, they had about a minute to spare in their escape. But the point is that they did have that minute, and it was enough. The moral to all of this—if that's what you want to call it—is obvious. The most cunningly-devised machinery fails once in a while; and when it does, everybody involved is in the soup unless the right man is in the right spot. This mechanical age has not done away with the old need for human capability, bravery and self-possession.

That's a good thing to remember. In the last analysis, we sink or we swim by what we have in ourselves and not by our equipment. There is no substitute for the time-honored individual virtues, and there never will be. We may build the most refined and fool-proof machines imaginable; but if we cannot come up with a Dave Hissong when we need one we are out of luck.

MODERN POLICEWOMEN

This is no day to be in crime, what with scientific detecting being what it is; with G-men and state police growing more efficient and more numerous by the hour.

But today is a lot better than tomorrow will be if the signs are read correctly. A forecast of what the criminal of tomorrow will encounter may be gained by a quick glance at the Municipal Building in New York City.

More than 300 young women, blonds, brunets and red-heads, are kicking their heels in the air as they take the tests for policewomen. They range in age from 21 to 29, in size from the willowy to the buxom.

They lift 40-pound dumbbells with one hand, they hold 60-pound barbells behind their necks and do 10 deep knee bends. Then they, or at least some of them do, jump over 39-inch hurdles. These are ominous signs to an individual about to enter a life of crime. A lissome beauty at a tea party may prove to be a policeman capable of throwing an average man out the window or of kicking him in his bullet-proof vest.

PUBLIC ENEMY TURNS USEFUL

Science does a lot of wonderful things. Most are vigorously applauded but many minor achievements go unnoticed.

From California comes news of a discovery that commands attention because it has taken a long-time enemy and made a useful citizen of him in an extremely short time. The citizen, once a scourge of marine life and now a producer in his own right, is the shark.

Sharks consume hundreds of pounds of the more desirable fish during their lives, yet are not particularly delectable themselves. Until recently they have been useful chiefly for fertilizer.

Now, however, more than 100 tons of sharks are sold every day in San Francisco for the production of shark liver oil, which has a high content of Vitamin A, valuable in the poultry industry.

Fishermen receive from $20 to $40 a ton for the sharks, depending upon the variety and size of the fish. Least valuable is the small dog variety. Special licenses are issued for the shark fisherman and the new industry is booming along in great shape.

Now that the shark has become a useful citizen with the aid and assistance of science, the scientist's next task is to study the habits and the way of life to insure the newcomer against extinction.

NO BLUE FIRE WAGONS

The average motorist, who is usually catching it in the neck from one kind of authority or another, has won a notable victory in Berkeley, Calif.

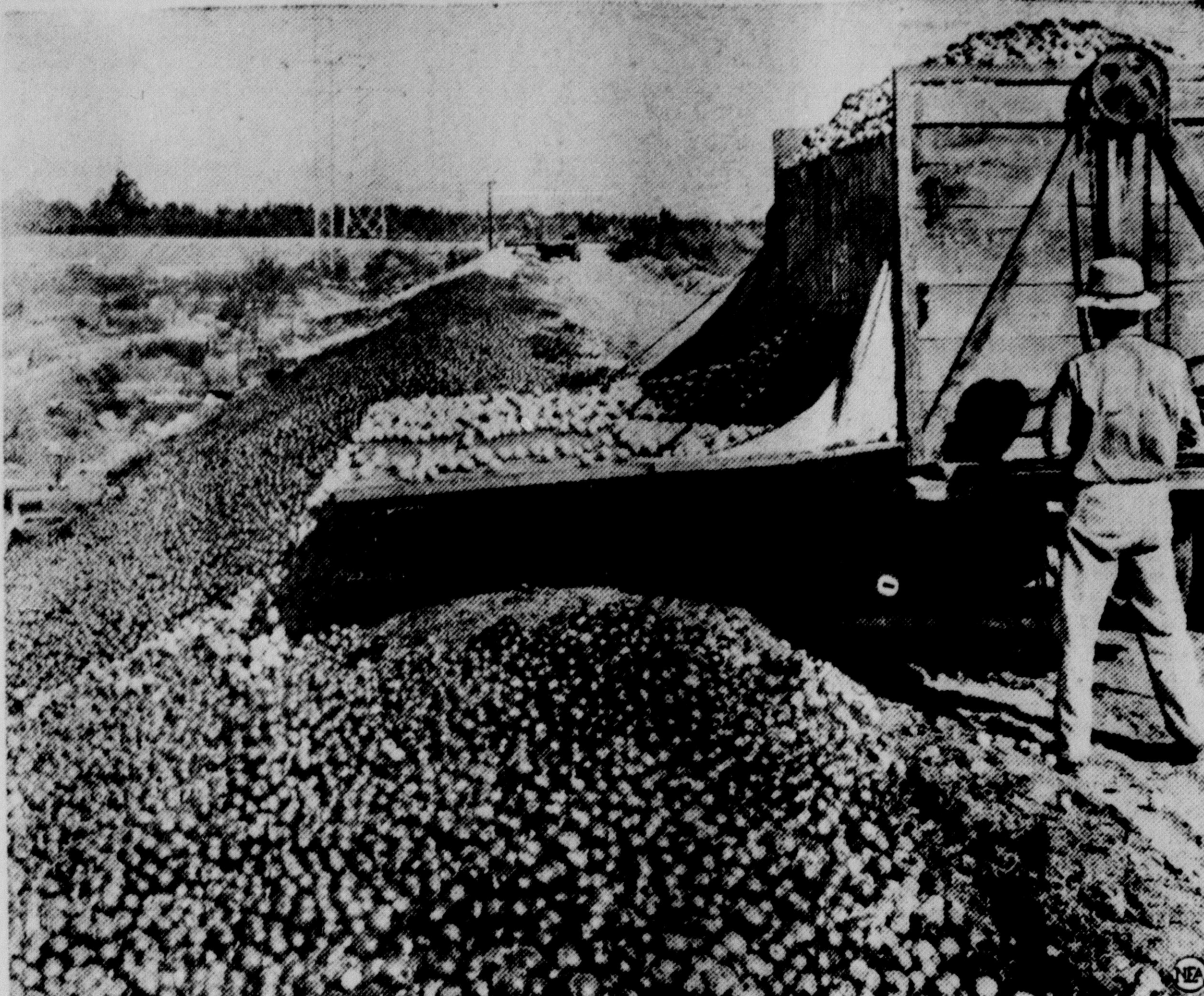

As a gesture to the University of California the city dares permitted painting the fire engines blue and gold instead of the traditional red.

Everybody was happy indeed and good feeling fairly reeked on the campus of the university and ran down the streets of Berkeley. But the motorists, accustomed to red fire trucks, refused to budge from the middle of the streets for the proud blue and gold beauties.

The blue and the gold of the fire wagons may have been too much like the jallopy of the campus for the Berkeley driver. Police have given up the task of herding auto drivers out of the way and the fire chief has announced that the fire wagons will be repainted in flaming colors.

Philosophers who bemoan the passing of tradition and regard the average citizen as a spineless creature will be pleased to learn that he won't stand for blue fire wagons.

Citrus Surplus Dumped Domestically

Statistics from California's bumper orange crop: One mile long; 20 feet wide; 15 feet high. Those are the measurements of the orange "dump" near Anaheim, Calif., part of which is pictured above, with fresh oranges being added. Covered with crude oil, the dumped oranges represent the citrus

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

Washington.—Keep an eye on the political race in Ohio. It is loaded with TNT, especially the Senate end of it.

Investigators for the Sheppard Committee are now concentrated in Ohio more than in any other political spot in the Union, busy checking on reports that armloads of cash are being dumped into the campaign fund of Robert A. Taft, son of the late President and now a candidate for the Senate against Democratic Bob Bulkley.

Investigators say privately that the Taft campaign chest is going to rival that of Newberry, famous Senator from Michigan, or Smith, the Insull candidate from Illinois, both of whom were barred from taking their seats.

Big reason for the interest in Taft is that if victorious, the Republicans will have a real candidate for 1940—a young Senator from a state famous for giving birth to Presidents and, above all, a man with a presidential name.

Senatorial Club. It is significant that the Sheppard Investigating Committee always humps itself in favor of a sitting Senator.

In other words, the old idea that the Senate is chiefly a club with the most exclusive membership in America still holds true. Senators who are "in" will always work against candidates who are "out."

Thus both George of Georgia and Tydings of Maryland are reported to have spent well over the amounts ladled out by Newberry and Smith, but the Sheppard Committee did nothing. They were already "in." In Ohio, however, Senator Bulkley is one of the boys. He is "in." His rival, Taft, is "out."

New Army School. Nub of the secret plan to develop a reserve corps of trained mechanics and technicians is the establishment of a new army school. Funds for this will be included in the 1939 budget now being drafted. Under the plan as submitted to the President by Assistant War Secretary Louis Johnson, the National Youth Administration will act as the "feeder" for the army school, supplying it with the pick of students attending NYA vocational schools.

British Prestige. Confidential diplomatic reports indicate that the British loss of prestige as a result of the Munich parley, is far more disastrous to the Empire than is generally realized.

It has not leaked out yet, but the British are having trouble even in distant Burma, where the natives are restless, some in revolt.

Various Mohammedan areas under the Union Jack are chafing at British reprisals against the Arabs in Palestine, while in Southwest Africa the German population is demanding a plebiscite for return to Germany.

Most worrisome spot for the British is South China, where the Japanese invasion is attributed directly to the fact that Chamberlain revealed himself as weak-kneed at Munich. South China, guarded by the British stronghold at Hongkong, is considered Britain's most lucrative trade area in the Far East, and in a few weeks the Japanese figure all this will be theirs.

Provided they don't actually touch the Isle of Hongkong, the Japanese figure that the British will do nothing except deliver innocuous notes of protest—and they are probably right.

I-Man. J. Edgar Hoover's latest book has caused Justice Department colleagues to give him a new title—"The Big I-Man."

Although the Federal Bureau of Investigation is a subordinate division of the Justice Department, Hoover mentions the Department only once and Attorney General Homer Cummings, his boss, only once. The FBI, on the other hand, is referred to more than seventy times.

Cabinet Row. The inside story has never been told how Cordell Hull was overruled on the question of subsidizing wheat exports.

His opponent in the controversy was Henry Wallace, who, with a barn-burning surplus on his hands, had abandoned his traditional opposition and declared for subsidies. He saw Canada subsidizing the world market if it stood idly by.

But Hull put his foot down. He was sorry about the surplus, but was not willing to abandon his anti-dumping principles to reduce it.

The issue became hot. Finally the two cabinet members put the matter up to the White House. The President agreed with Hull in theory, but saw eye to eye with Wallace on the need to get rid of the surplus wheat. So he ruled in favor of the subsidies.

Later, when Wallace was asked if there was any conflict between himself and the Secretary of State, he replied smilingly "We are always in perfect harmony with the State Department."

When Hull was questioned next day on the same point, he replied shortly, "If one cabinet member has expressed himself on the question, that is enough."

Unimpressed. The State Department is not making the fact public but it has information that while Colonel Lindbergh may have scared the Cliveden set and Chamberlain ministers with his adverse report on Soviet aviation, one British leader was not impressed by his knowledge of Russian affairs.

According to the private advice reaching the State Department after Lindbergh had spoken his mind at the famed Astor estate at Cliveden on the Thames river, he was very critical of the government's policy on Czechoslovakia. Lindbergh repeated to the former Prime Minister what he had said at Cliveden.

Lloyd George listened in silence until Lindbergh had finished and then asked, "Did you have a chance to talk to Voroshilov about this while you were in Moscow?" "Voroshilov? No, who is he?" Lloyd George smiled, replied quietly, "I thought you knew so much about Russia, Colonel. Voroshilov is Soviet Defense Commissioner and next to Stalin is the best known and most powerful man in Russia."

Unique Experience. The Securities and Exchange Commission is enjoying a unique experience.

After being the target of Wall Street attack during most of its existence, the Commission is reveling in the thrill of watching two competing groups of brokers row among themselves over which should be regulated by the government.

The Securities Act directs the Commission to prescribe rules under which traders may "stabilize"—peg, to you and me—the price of stock issues that are being floated. The original bill prohibited such operations entirely, but the brokers succeeded in having it amended to permit price bolstering regulation.

Wall Street has recently clamored for these regulations but every time the SEC produced the proposal, it met a barrage of objections.

Finally, several months ago, a set of rules was sent to Wall Street. Over-the-counter traders were very enthusiastic and recommended their immediate adoption. But the Stock Exchange was pleased. But not the over-the-counter brokers.

"These rules will never do," they complained. "They will hurt our business. Why don't you just regulate the Stock Exchange?"

The SEC has sent word to both factions that unless they get together without further delay, it will impose regulations without consulting either.

People's Column

CHANGING THE STATE CONSTITUTION

In the people's column last evening Floyd Thompson did not tell the voters that if the Constitution is amended, NO STATE BANK SHALL EVER BE CREATED.

The double liability can be done away with if desired without any change in the Constitution.

Floyd Thompson did not tell all that this proposed change will lead up to. Every community that needs or desires a bank can have one if there are people in that community who will put up the money to establish a bank. There is no valid reason why changes should be made in the Banking Act in any other manner than any other change in the Constitution.

I say vote NO on this proposition. Changing the Constitution is a dangerous business when it grants special privileges.

Yours very truly,
R. A. Rodesch.

COMPLETE INQUIRY INTO AUTHORSHIP OF CAMPAIGN DUN

Washington, Oct. 26—(AP)—Chairman Sheppard (D-Tex.) said today agents of the senate campaign expenditures committee have completed their inquiry into authorship of a letter, asking Pennsylvanians to contribute to the Democratic party.

It was sent out over the name of Senator Guffey (D-Pa.), who has denied signing or authorizing it.

When it decided to investigate the circular, the committee ruled that if the letter went to persons receiving federal compensation, Senator Guffey could not legally have sponsored it.

Sheppard said that after disposal of this case the committee would hear reports of investigators from California, Indiana, Wisconsin, Ohio, Georgia and Tennessee.

The committee said yesterday that agents who investigated complaints by Senator Davis (R-Pa.) reported that:

1. Sale of tickets to Democratic party rallies by WPA foremen was widespread.

2. 18 Republican WPA workers were transferred to projects 35 miles from their homes because they wore Republican buttons at work.

3. Four WPA truck owners contributed to the Democratic campaign fund after many were solicited for donations of $100 each.

4. An unnamed Democratic leader called relief workers to Democratic headquarters for interviews to "get the minterested in the welfare of the Democratic party."

HITS AT SOCIAL SECURITY AT ROCK ISLAND GOP RALLY

Rock Island, Ill., Oct. 26—(AP)—Rep. Ralph O. Brewster, (R-Me.), in an address last night at a Republican rally, criticized the New Deal's Social Security program.

Several hundred members of Townsend clubs in the 14th and 15th congressional districts were at the rally and heard the Maine Republican, re-elected last month, praise the "principles" of the Townsend plan.

James A. Farley also was criticized by Brewster, who charged the postmaster general had "branded the Townsends and Republicans an 'unwholly alliance'." Brewster invited Rep. William Bankhead, (D-Ala.), speaker of the house, to appear at a meeting here next week to "explain" the Democratic policies.

A torchlight parade, with Republicans from Moline and east Moline joining in the procession, preceded the rally at the Masonic Temple auditorium. Officials said 1,000 persons attended the rally, taxing the capacity of the auditorium. Mayor Robert P. Galbraith of Rock Island presided.

Before the passage of the Pure Food Laws, squash, "doctored" and attractively packed, often masqueraded as canned peaches.

Brain Twizzlers

By PROF. J. D. FLINT

A criminal, known as The Claw, was arrested and sent to prison because he couldn't resist the temptation of his early training. At the time he was arrested he was a much-wanted criminal but his early experience had been picking pockets. He stood in a crowd one day which was watching a human fly begin to perform outside a window on the thirty-fourth floor of a building. The Claw recognized the opportunity for a pickpocket while everyone was looking up so he thought he'd try his hand. He succeeded in getting a wallet and started away in the crowd but the owner missed it and called a policeman who, with the help of other officers, held all nearby persons, including The Claw who had dropped the wallet when he saw the police. The officers hit upon a plan to ask each suspect one question aside from the others and when they asked The Claw he couldn't answer satisfactorily and was arrested. What question could the police have asked each suspect?

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

A fascinating pastime with Albert Edward Wiggam, S. Sc., Author of "THE MARKS OF A CLEAR MIND."

"The keenest anguish known to human nature is the pain of a new idea," (Bagehot). We hope this column brings you pain.

Answer to Question No. 1

1. No. It is because he keeps your attention fixed on some movement that apparently is important in performing the trick but which really has nothing to do with it. He keeps you watching his right hand while his left hand is really doing the trick. Often he hands his assistant something that seems essential to the trick and keeps you watching his assistant while he is doing the rest. Of course he also has a lot of mysterious pockets and receptacles that you know nothing about.

Answer to Question No. 2

2. It is extremely doubtful. In what is known as the "Minnesota Mechanical Ability Tests"—a study requiring four years by a whole group of psychologists—no significant relationship was found between a boy's mechanical ability—as measured by these tests—and his environment. The entire 600 page report leaves a strong impression that mechanical ability cannot be learned to any great extent by one who is not born that way any more than music can be learned by one who is stone deaf.

Answer to Question No. 3

3. Several studies by psychologists show that the main vices attributed to men are "brutality," "roughness," "inconsiderate," "dominating disposition." All of these are really one vice or imperfection. But women are considered "illogical," "vain," "over-emotional," "oversensitive," "deceitful," "gossipy," "cowardly," etc. All of these are separate vices or imperfections. Of course this does not prove women actually possess a greater number of imperfections than men, but the world seems to think they do.

NAZI PRESS HITS CHURCH FOR STAND IN CZECH CRISIS

Berlin, Oct. 26—(AP)—The weekly organ of the Nazi church, the SS guards today attacked the Roman Catholic and Protestant Confessional Synod churches for their alleged unpatriotic attitude in the German-Czechoslovak crisis and declared Jews in Germany and Italy were "hostages."

The paper, Das Schwarze Korps, said "Jews living in Germany and Italy are hostages given into our hands by fate so that we may defend ourselves in the most effective manner against attacks by world Jewry."

"This assertion may seem rather severe," the paper continued, "to those who in their soft sentimentality always are at hand with a slogan about the 'innocent Jew'."

"Whoever envisages in all its ramifications the incitement to war which world Jewry has unleashed upon us along a broad front and whoever recognizes the true intentions of these world criminals would be a fool indeed if in the face of such a threat he permitted anything like compassion to surge within him."

The attack on the churches was contained in an article captioned "A squaring of accounts" and taking up the entire first two pages of the paper.

It charged that "in the fateful hour of the German people that part of the clergy which still dabbles in politics stood faithfully on the side of the opponents."

Politicians among prelates and pastors, it continued, "felt so sure of themselves on the basis of information received from Rome

SAYS DISLOCATIONS CAUSED BY NEW LAW WILL BE SMOOTHED

Washington, Oct. 26—(AP)—President Roosevelt predicts industrial dislocations caused by the wage-hour law gradually will disappear.

Commenting yesterday on scattered suspensions of operations reported since the statute went into effect Monday, Roosevelt commented that social legislation frequently created temporary difficulties.

He proposed that government and industry set out, as a practical measure, to make the law work smoothly. He added that even the most reactionary newspaper owners and politicians had a patriotic duty to try to make the statute operate smoothly.

The president said, too, it was unfortunate that plant shutdowns, such as occurred in the pecan shelling industry, should come just two weeks before an election.

A woodpecker pecks to dig out a nest and to obtain food; he drums for pleasure or to call other birds of the same species.

and London that they openly stated within their own groups that a lost war would bring freedom to the church, meaning to political Christendom."

Women's Clubs of Lee County are to Meet

A varied and interesting program in which each club in the county will participate, has been arranged for the fall meeting of the Federated Women's clubs of Lee county, to be held on Friday afternoon, Nov. 4, in Ashton. The sessions will be held in the basement of the Methodist church, beginning at 1 o'clock, and tea will be served at 4.

Mrs. Martha Allen of Mount Morris, new president of the 13th District Federation, will give a review of the book, "The Horse and Buggy Doctor." Mrs. L. N. Deutsch of Dixon, first vice president of the 13th District Federation, will entertain with readings.

FLAG PRESENTATION
Members of Dixon unit No. 12, American Legion auxiliary, presented an American flag to the Will school, south of Dixon, yesterday afternoon. The following program was presented at 2:30 o'clock.

Poems, "America," and "Our Flag," Mrs. Viola Strub; presentation of the flag, Mrs. Emma Phalen, past president of the auxiliary; short talk on the World War, Mrs. Eliza Brand; flag drill, pupils of the school, led by Edward Conroy, concluding with the song, "America;" recitation, "Flags," Lucille Stahl; song, "The First Flag," Darline Lesselman; solo, "Cradle Song," Irene Stahl; solo, "I'm going to Run Away," Joy Brechon.

Mrs. Michael Stahl, Mrs. Clara Brechon, and Mrs. William Miller received prizes in Halloween games, and a Halloween lunch was served by the students and their teacher, Miss Julia Brechon. About 10 visitors were present.

Mrs. Eliza Brand, a past president of the auxiliary, and Mrs. Mabel O'Malley accompanied Mrs. Phalen and Mrs. Strub to the school.

BRIDGE-LUNCHEON

Yellow and white chrysanthemums decorated the luncheon table, when a hostess trio composed of Mrs. D. A. James, Mrs. C. B. Ives, and Miss Theresa McBride of Amboy entertained yesterday with a 1 o'clock luncheon at the James home, 415 Jackson avenue. Mrs. G. Aschenbrenner, Mrs. H. J. McCoy and Mrs. L. A. Barlow of Amboy received prizes in the contract games.

In the party were Mesdames C. Gorman, H. J. McCoy, J. H. Kretzer, G. Aschenbrenner, T. G. Curran, D. A. James, C. B. Ives and W. E. James of Dixon, Mrs. Edith Sykes, Mrs. L. A. Barlow, and Mrs. O. C. Holt of Amboy.

RETURN FROM SOUTH

A vacation foursome with interesting stories about the south are Mrs. Chester Barriage and daughter, Rogene, Miss Mamie O'Brien, and Mrs. J. C. Lyons, who returned from a motor trip Monday evening, two weeks after they drove off toward New Orleans to attend the Eucharistic Congress. About three thousand miles were covered by the party, with Mrs. Barriage and her daughter alternating at the wheel.

On the homeward trip, they included Pensacola, Fla., and Biloxi, Miss., on their itinerary.

MISS BLACK WILL ADDRESS POLO UNIT

Miss Lulu Black of the home economics department of the University of Illinois will address members of the Polo Home Bureau unit on Thursday at the Polo Methodist Episcopal church. Her subject is to be "The Home Bureau as an Investment in Better Home and Community Life."

A scramble luncheon will be served at 1 o'clock, preceding the meeting.

RETURN TO CHICAGO

Mrs. John Curtin and children have returned to Chicago, following a week's visit at the John Lowery home, Mr. Curtin having arrived during the week-end to accompany them home. The Curtins, and James Lowery and his five children were Sunday dinner guests at the Lowery home on Hennepin avenue.

DINNER GUESTS

Mrs. E. E. Brenneman was entertaining at dinner at her country home near White Rock yesterday for Mrs. E. D. Alexander and her daughter, Mrs. Taber of Omaha, Neb., and Mrs. David Bigelow.

Dixon Women "Dress" for Tea

A quintet of costumed guests who attended the antique exhibit and tea given last Thursday afternoon by women of St. Agnes' Guild, St. Luke's Episcopal church, as part of the church's Centennial Week program. Left to right: Mrs. Ira Lamphier, whose costume was her great-grandmother's wedding dress in Castine, Me. in the 1830's; Miss Susan Warner, wearing a period costume of pink calico with muslin pantalets; Mrs. Charles Leake, attired in a gray silk gown and gray bonnet from her grandmother's wardrobe; Mrs. Z. Glatzer, whose pink silk gown was the costume in which Mrs. Robert Shaw's aunt, Mrs. Chauncey Borland, was presented at St. James' court 55 or more years ago; and Mrs. B. Norman Burke, wife of the rector, who appeared in a black silk gown worn by her great-great-grandmother when the latter visited Philadelphia in 1776.

Mrs. George Curtis is Complimented at Post-Nuptial Shower

Mrs. Lyle Bellows of Palmyra township was entertaining at the home last evening, the occasion being a kitchen shower for a recent bride, Mrs. George Curtis, the former Miss Vivian Coakley. The utensils were in keeping with the red and white motif of the bride's new kitchen.

Bunco was suggested as the evening's pastime. Mrs. Sherman L. Shaw, Jr., of Lee Center and Miss Lorraine Rhoades were fortunate in the games.

Refreshments were served, after the guests had watched the honoree unwrap her gift packages. Guests numbered Mrs. John Cox, Mrs. Sherman L. Shaw, Jr., the Misses Frances Crawford, Lor-

YEARS AGO

Outstanding News of Dixon and Vicinity in the Past

(From Dixon Telegraph.)
37 YEARS AGO.

Mrs. Anna D. White died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. C. Cass at Ashton Saturday morning.

Al. Derr, while attempting to tighten a belt on a shafting in W. J. McAlpine's shop yesterday, caught the leg of his pants on a set screw, winding his body about the shaft and inflicting injuries to his right leg.

Mrs. Nora Wooley, wife of William W. Wooley, passed away last evening at the home on First street.

25 YEARS AGO.

Thomas J. Drew of 1119 North Galena avenue died at the hospital Saturday night of injuries received in a runaway accident at the north end of the Galena avenue bridge on Oct. 12.

The Dixon union high school football team outclassed Mt. Morris Saturday and won easily by a score of 57 to 6. The Dixon lineup: Curran, re; Church, rt; Dixon, rg; Lennox, c; Beier, lg; Kurtzrock, lt; Dollahan, le; Ackert, qb; Schrock, rbb; McCarty, lbb; Byers, fb.

Mrs. Leonard Andrus after spending three months visiting in Dixon left this morning for her home at Portland, Ore.

10 YEARS AGO.

Plans for the new $65,000 St. Anne's Catholic church in Dixon have been completed by the architect, W. J. Van Der Meer of Rockford.

The second annual Lee county farmers' husking contest will be held Monday on the Adam Gonneman farm south of Ashton.

OBITUARY

A PIONEER CITIZEN PASSES.

(Telegraph Special Service.)
(Contributed.)

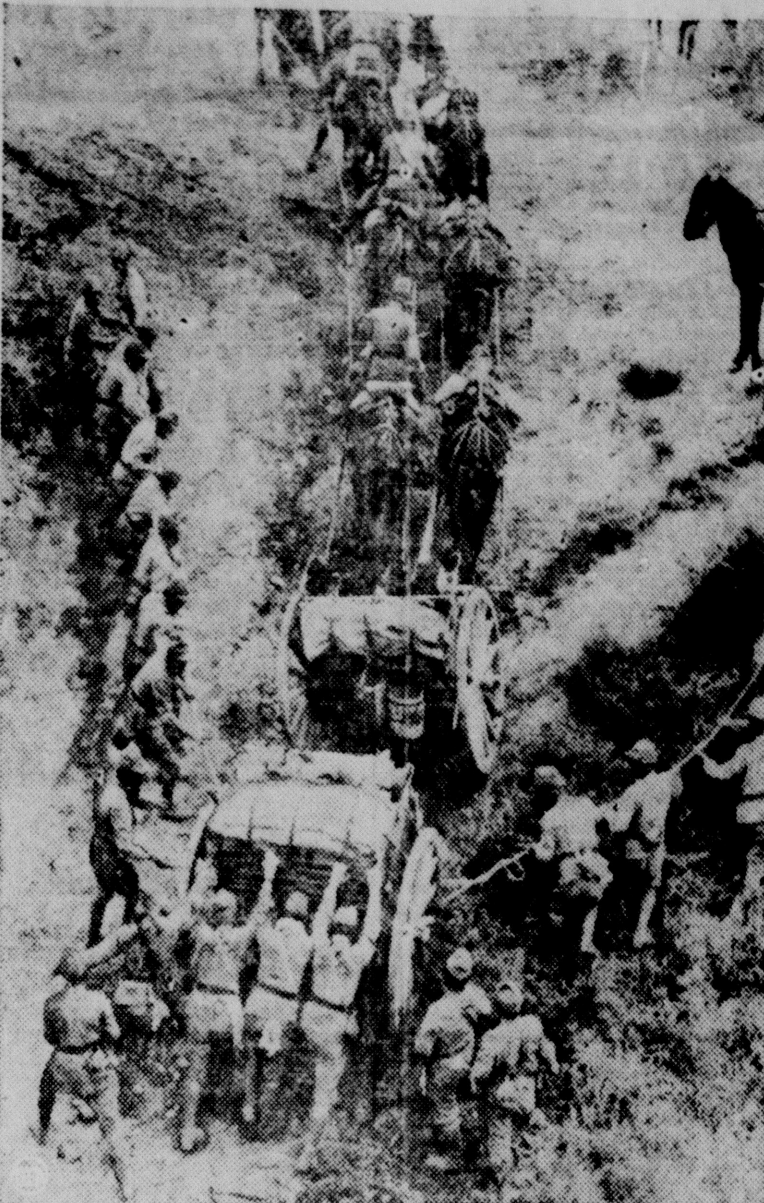

John W. Buck was the son of Henry and Mary Ann Buck, who drove in a covered wagon from Pennsylvania to northern Illinois in the pioneer days of 1845 and settled in Nachusa township, where he was born Nov. 17, 1817. Of his birth it may be said: Beside the shelter of a hill On which the redmen trod His advent upon the earth was made Within a house of sod.

He came to grow up with the west. When settlers were but few. And broad, expansive prairies Were e'er before his view.

He departed this life at the Dixon hospital October 20, 1933, having attained more than a score of years beyond the allotted three score and ten, having lived 90 years, 11 months and 3 days. Though in gradually declining health for several years, the immediate cause of his death was a fractured limb, which accident occurred ten days before his departure.

While yet an infant his parents moved one-half mile north of Franklin Grove, now the home of his son, O. D. Buck, where he grew to manhood. One of the childhood experiences which he often recalled was

How Japanese Made Record March

So rough and difficult is the South China country traversed by the Japanese in the speedy conquest of Canton that pirates long have used it as a favorite hide-out. And yet Japanese soldiers averaged 15 miles a day in their march on Canton. The above picture is a striking example of how they combined manpower with horsepower to get equipment and supplies over the mountainous region in their notable 10-day march.

seeing the first engine pass through Franklin Grove on the Chicago & Northwestern railroad. When he was 20 years of age his father passed away, leaving the responsibility of maintaining the home upon him and his older brother.

On Christmas day, 1872, he was united in marriage to Matilda Dierdorff of Franklin Grove. They established their home one mile north of Franklin Grove, now the home of his son, E. R. Buck, where they resided until they retired from the farm in 1906 and moved to Franklin Grove, where in 1922 they celebrated their golden wedding, his companion preceding him in death in 1925.

There were three sons born into this home, Ira L., Oliver D. and Earl R., of Franklin Grove, all of whom survive him.

He, with his companion were not only concerned for the material and spiritual wellbeing of their own children, but their concern went out to others who needed fostering care. They took into their home Grant McClain, a fatherless boy of 12 years who remained with them until 20 years of age. Also Anna Wisman, now Mrs. Benjamin Richwine, a motherless girl of 8 years, was taken into the home as a foster daughter and remained with them until the time of her marriage. Also Myrtle Davison, now Mrs. Barnes of DeKalb spent a few years in their home during the early years of childhood.

He confessed Christ as his Saviour and united with the Church of the Brethren when 17 years of age. He was a regular attendant at religious services and exemplified the Christian life in his daily conduct and dealings with his fellowmen. He was elected to the office of deacon in 1890 in which capacity he served faithfully as long as health permitted. He also served as church clerk and church treasurer and was the treasurer of the District Mission Board for many years.

He was the last survivor of a family of seven children. He maintained the use of his faculties to a marked degree for one of his advanced age. He was a man of industry, economy and simplicity. He grew up on the fertile prairies of pioneer days and always had a great interest in agricultural pursuits, manifesting a concern in the affairs and interests of his children even until his closing days.

He met life's trials and sorrows and endured his physical afflictions of many years duration with much patience and Christian fortitude, desirous of not being a burden to others.

Beyond October, winter waits to pile its snow before the gates; What men call death shall huri its stroke alike at plant and giant oak; And yet beneath the snowdrifts deep We know the violets merely sleep.

Mankind has its October, too, When little more there is to do, And we may claim the sweet content Of strength that has been nobly spent.

And yet we fear, when comes the snow, There is no spring where we shall go.

October with its lovely breath,

Voices the cry, there is no death! Men read it in a thousand ways. We see beyond the mist and haze, Which shroud the hills and valleys deep, That all shall wake who fall asleep.

The pains of death are passed, Labor and sorrows cease; And life's long warfare closed at last, His soul is found in peace.

Soldier of Christ, well done! Praise be thy new employ! And while eternal ages run, Rest in thy Saviour's joy.

Funeral services were conducted Sunday afternoon, Oct. 23, at the Church of the Brethren by the pastor, Rev. S. L. Cover, assisted by Eld. D. C. Bonsack of Elgin, Ill. Interment was in the Emmert cemetery.

Casket bearers were John Buck, Dale Lizer, Evan Kinsley, LeRoy Gemmell, Frank Senger, Harold Streader.

Mrs. Bessie Wendell and Mrs. Ethel Beehley sang several comforting hymns. They were accompanied by Miss Barbara Kohl.

Those from out of town were: Mr. and Mrs. Dale Lizer and three children, Mr. and Mrs. John Buck, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Long and Missa Vinna Dierdorff of Mt. Morris; Rev. and Mrs. LeRoy Gemmell of Aurora; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Buck and son from Walker, Iowa; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Price of Rockford; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Myers from Polo; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Steders and son, Mr. and Mrs. Emmet Randal of Dixon; Mr. and Mrs. Grace Richwine of Streator; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Senger and Rev. and Mrs. Chas. Bonsack of Elgin; Miss Jennie Hoak of Sterling; Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Heinzeroth and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Heinzeroth of Byron; Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Nickey of Glen Ellyn; Mrs. Maude Thomas and two sons of Ashton.

MRS. MARY MYER.

(Contributed.)

Mrs. Mary Myer, only sister of Mrs. Theresa Haueter of this city,

That Old Man Winter Is Here Again

The first blizzard of winter wasn't fooling when it swept across Minnesota, Wisconsin and northern Michigan, paralyzing transportation and communication. This scene near Prentice, Wis., shows broken telegraph poles and wires down along the snow-covered highway. Snow was eight inches deep in some sections.

passed away suddenly at the home of her son, Louis Myer in Waukesha, Wis., Wednesday, Oct. 19. Mrs. Myer's death occurred on her seventy-eighth birthday anniversary, following her return to the home of her son, after a visit with her sister, Mrs. Haueter in this city.

Mrs. Myer was born in Switzerland where she spent the greater part of her life and came to the United States in 1928 to make her home with her son. Her husband and one son preceded her in death. A daughter residing in Switzerland, the son Louis of Waukesha, Wis., and a sister, Mrs. Haueter of Dixon are the survivors.

Funeral services were conducted at the Jones funeral home Saturday morning with interment in Oakwood.

Countries in Path of Hitler's March to Black Sea Suffering with Jittery Nerves

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press Foreign Affairs Writer.

Budapest, Oct. 26.—Countries of central and southeastern Europe which lie in the path of Fuehrer Hitler's politico-economic march to the Black Sea are in a shocking state of nerves and in some instances actual dread.

Having seen German troops goose-stepping across dismembered Czechoslovakia, these small states are fearful lest their own sovereignty may be in danger ultimately, not through annexation but because of fierce political control which would in effect make them vassals of the reich.

This panicky feeling is due largely to the fact no great power has announced its championship of little fellows living on the sunrise side of Germany. France and England have withdrawn behind the Rhine so to speak, and the Russian bear is quiet.

Easy Going.

This being the case there is no big nation to stand in the way of Hitler's drive to the east to establish German domination. He can pretty well plant his flag where he pleases.

It isn't that small countries are hostile to Germany. They are friendly enough, speaking in general terms, but they naturally don't want to lose their independence. The fate of Czechoslovakia casts a heavy shadow across lands from the Baltic to the Black sea.

So far as the economic angle is concerned all these nations want to trade extensively with Germany. As a matter of fact they would have to even if they did not want to. They are too small to buy each other's products, which are largely agricultural, and their only big customer is the Fatherland, on which they depend for absorption of a great percentage of their output.

Barter Trading.

The quid pro quo is that they buy German goods. Actually naziland trades a great deal on the barter system—I will swap my motorcars for your wheat.

This whole setup gives rise to the general expectation that Hitler will try to form customs unions with all countries in question. That is, there would be trade pacts providing for favored nation treatment to the virtual exclusion of outside countries.

This would hit American trade, among others, a fairly sharp blow, especially in such items as motorcars and typewriters. For example, virtually every automobile I saw in Rumania recently was of American make.

It is but a step from such sweeping economic control to political overlordship, and that is what small countries are shivering over.

CAGEY FARMER TRAPS WHEAT THIEVES

Dufresne, Man. —(AP)—Troubled by grain thefts, Leon Laurin had an idea. He concealed chicken feathers and leaves torn from mail order catalog in all his wheat.

After the next theft, Laurin and officers traced some suspects and found them hauling 70 bushels. The two men claimed the wheat came from their own farm, but Laurin plunged his arm into it and pulled out his "markers." Result: the two were arrested.

Tennis has been played for seven centuries, according to records of the game.

ALL YOUR CURIOSITY satisfied by Your Mileage Merchant...Ask him exactly how you're sure of fast winter starting and extreme oil economy by changing now to WINTER OIL-PLATING

Is OIL-PLATING just a different name?

...No. OIL-PLATING is what Conoco Germ Processed oil does! The out-and-out difference is this: OIL-PLATING will stay firmly attached—plated—clear to the topmost point in your engine, while any plain mineral oil drains clear down the crankcase at every stop.

Exactly where is your gain? Well, in starting up again—next day or next month—the coldest OIL-PLATED engine is always oiled in advance...pre-lubricated before any oil down in the crankcase could ever stir. OIL-PLATING thus keeps every engine part constantly slippery. The starter speeds...the battery lives and so does the engine, free of fierce starting friction.

But is there any oil saving? Why?... Because less engine wear puts more miles between quarts. And OIL-PLATING itself never passes out during the use of Germ Processed oil. Only the Germ Process, patented, creates OIL-PLATING, the sensible reason for you to switch to Your Mileage Merchant today.

CONOCO GERM PROCESSED OIL

OIL-PLATING GUARANTEED to lubricate before any oil can circulate

Picture of a man crossing a bridge

We've all heard of that famous bridge—the one that some people try to cross before they get to it. Fret, Worry & Fear built it and did a bad job. It's wobbly...and it never gets anybody anywhere.

There's another bridge—Confidence—that is strongly engineered to carry heavy loads. Confidence sailed our pioneer forefathers across the turbulent Atlantic. Confidence helped our grandfathers extend the stubborn frontier—and made ours the strongest and most abundant land on Earth today. Confidence is ready now to take America further still.

FANFARE—

By DON DANIELSON

The lightweight game with DeKalb on Saturday afternoon is to start at 1:00 o'clock and the heavyweight will follow about 2:30 P. M. Coach James Trees of the DeKalb squad is none too cheerful about the affair and last night in a statement to the Telegraph declared, "If we make a couple of first downs I'll be happy." Nothing can be that dark and dreary, but it appears the visitors' mentor is not counting on any mauling of the locals.

Jones and Brown were the only two Sterling players to go the entire game for Sterling in the battle with Mendota last Saturday. Jones was responsible for several good passes and both played a bang up game, making them material for careful consideration when Sterling meets Dixon here on Armistice Day.

Sterling Township gets a much needed rest this week end. Ridge, McCandless and Hubbard were unable to play against Mendota last Saturday and it is expected they will be back in the lineup for the homecoming event on Nov. 5 with Belvidere. Janssen, a first string reserve, was also on the sick list.

With opening game only a week away, the basketball squad of Franklin Grove high school is speeding up the final drills for a real contest with the Rolo five as the starting foe. The playing court has been repainted and the floor given two coats of seal. If the triumph over Harmon recently was any indication, the Franklin Grove lads should be a real contender in their class.

Richard Folk, former Polo high school star, aided his mates of the Illinois Wesleyan team in their triumph over Illinois college last Saturday by a score of 14 to 0. Folk is a co-captain of the Wesleyan squad.

Floyd Covill of State Normal, former Amboy football star, scored twice on plunges to help his team defeat Eastern Teachers of Charleston by a count of 19 to 0 last Saturday at Normal.

Harry Grayson, NEA sports writer, gets really bold this week with his pigskin picks and not only tells the team he thinks will win next Saturday, but has a few caustic comments to make on each tilt. He's given up the practice of predicting the scores, maybe he ran into what we did with the Polo-Amboy affair. However, Grayson says: Of Indiana vs. Wisconsin — "Wisconsin improving." (That's good!) Of Minnesota vs. Northwestern — "Minnesota on edge." Of Army vs. Notre Dame — "Notre Dame handily."

The Sterling freshman arrived for their game with the local first year men last night and both the heavyweight and lightweight games ended in deadlocks. In the heavy battle Potts, of Dixon, scored the touchdown in the first three minutes of the first quarter for the Sharpshooter when—on a criss cross—he went around left end for 35 yards to the Sterling goal. The line plunge failed for the extra point. In the third quarter Rizer, of Sterling, took a Dixon punt on the locals' 40 yard line and skirted the right side of the field for the touchdown. Not a hand was laid on him. The line plunge failed for the extra point.

The freshman linebacks battled for 3 quarters before darkness overtook them and left both Sterling and Dixon knotted in a scoreless tie. In the second frame Dixon worked the ball to the Sterling 10 yard line on straight line bucks through center only to lose the ball there on a fumble. With Sterling the lighter team of smaller boys, the ball was in the visitors' territory most of the game. In the last quarter Sterling opened up a passing and free running attack and made some fine gains before the game was over. McMillon acted as referee.

PEACE AND QUIET SETTLE DOWN ON IOWA GRID CAMP

Trouble Between Team and School Editors Comes to Quick End

Iowa City, Ia., Oct. 26—(AP)—The trouble that caused University of Iowa football players to throw two editors of the Daily Iowan, student newspaper, off the practice field Monday night, apparently was "water over the dam" today.

Last night the editors watched the Hawkeye squad practice, the players ignored the presence of the newspaper men and the Daily Iowan today carried a "routine" story on the drill for the Purdue game Saturday.

The short-lived conflict ended quietly, despite assertions by principals earlier yesterday that they would not budge in their determination to carry out reprisal plans.

Conference of Leaders

A conference of leaders of the competing groups of students with Karl E. Leib, chairman of the board in control of athletics, was credited with having ended the squabble.

The trouble began when Dennis Sullivan, sports editor of the Iowan, wrote a story in Sunday morning's edition of the student paper in which he raked the team for alleged failure to "resist" the Colgate team which defeated them Saturday.

Monday night Sullivan and John Mooney, Iowan editor, went to watch the squad practice and were ejected bodily from the field.

Yesterday Sullivan and Mooney declared they would visit the field during last night's rehearsal and the football players said they would "throw them over the fence" surrounding the lot if they did.

However, after the conference with Leib, Jack Eicherly, team captain, requested the players not to bother Mooney and Sullivan.

Yesterday's Actions

Yesterday the paper carried a story written by Maxine Reams, "society reporter," who declared the players were "very polite." She witnessed part of a practice session by peering around the wall which encircles the field, she related.

"Dear diary," she wrote, "I had more fun today. I watched a football practice. I was peeping through the canvas walls and all of the fellows came out. x x x. They chose up sides and lined up, and the two lines of seven started pushing and shoving each other, and putting their hands on each other's faces, x x x. They were very polite about it, too. Every boy would help the other up and tell him how sorry he was if he had hurt him. x x x. "Nobody ever caught the ball," she wrote. "Besides, if someone ever did catch it, they'd take it away from him and start over again. "I don't think I'll ever go again. Good night, dear diary."

AMBOY YOUTH TIES FOR SCORING TOPS OF STATE SCHOOLS

Bloomington, Ill., Oct. 26—(AP)—Three touchdowns and an extra point in his first conference game of the season placed Lloyd Geiger, Carthage college halfback, in a tie today with Floyd Covill of State Normal, and former Amboy star, for the Illinois intercollegiate conference scoring leadership.

Both Geiger and the Normal fullback had a total of 19 points. Geiger went on his scoring spree Saturday as Carthage walloped Elmhurst, 25 to 0.

The leading scorers:

Layden Figures Army Game is a Toss-Up

South Bend, Ind., Oct. 26—(AP)—Head football coach Elmer Layden, whose Notre Dame gridiron charges have captured four straight games this season, figures the Irish-Army battle in New York's Yankee Stadium Saturday is "a toss-up."

"This is one series," he said, "in which the underdog is always the favorite. We would much rather go into the Army game the underdog any time than the favorite. I envy the Cadets the position (underdog) they've been given by the experts this year."

The game will be the 25th in the Notre Dame-Army series, described by the Irish sports department as the "oldest continuous intersectional rivalry in the record books." Notre Dame has won 17 from the Cadets, lost five and tied two.

The Irish will entrain for Rye, N. Y., tomorrow and work out at the Westchester Country club Friday.

ZUPPKE GLOOMY AT MENTION OF MICHIGAN TEAM

Waldorf Guards Against Any Costly Fumbles in Minnesota Game

Champaign, Ill., Oct. 26—(AP)—

Bob Zuppke shook up his battered Illinois squad today, announced only light work this week for his first stringers and grew gloomier with each mention of Michigan.

Ralph Bennett was promoted to the first team fullback berth in yesterday's drill by Zuppke and George Rettinger, regular heretofore, was dropped to the third team.

Duane Fultz, Springfield, Ill., sophomore, alternated with Jim Phillips at the first team's left end. Cliff Peterson drilled at left half, replacing Bob Wehrli who fractured and dislocated his elbow against Northwestern.

In addition to Wehrli, Tony Mazeika, another halfback, and Mel Brewer were announced as definitely out of the Michigan game. Makeika twisted a knee against the Wildcats and Brewer's knee injury remained in such poor condition that Zuppke ordered him to take only light workouts at the guard position to which he has been shifted.

Prepare For Illini

At Ann Arbor, Michigan put on its first scrimmage in preparation for the Illini, but halfback Norman Purucker was out with a stomach disorder and a bruised shoulder. He was replaced by Paul Kromer. A lengthy drill on fundamentals occupied the Wolverines before their scrimmage.

In other Big Ten camps yesterday:

Northwestern—The Wildcats drilled on fundamentals before facing freshmen with Minnesota plays, but chief emphasis of the day was placed on ball handling which indicated Lynn Waldorf wanted no costly fumbles Saturday.

Minnesota—As if to bear out Waldorf's warning to the Wildcats that the Gopher passing attack was as dangerous as their power plays, Minnesota spent more than an hour on its aerial offensive with Hal Van Every tossing them to George Nash and John Marucci.

Passing Chief Theme

Ohio State—Passing was the chief theme in Columbus for Francis Schmidt's Ohio State charges with offensive and defensive pass play receiving equal attention for Saturday's New York university encounter.

Chicago—The Maroons, who meet De Pauw Saturday, hinted at a reliance on passing as another strong running back, Ed Valdez, was shifted into the line, taking over left end.

Iowa—Frank Balazs, regular fullback, returned to action for the benefit of the Daily Iowan's sports editor turned football reporter, but Nile Kinnick, star left half, remained sidelined with an ankle injury which threatened to keep him out of the Purdue game.

Purdue Meets Iowa

Purdue—Mal Elward went about building a strong line for Purdue's battle with the Hawkeyes, testing

Jumps at Chance to Sit Pretty

Going over one of the jumps in the Inter-American Horse Show at Washington, "Swing Easy", ridden by Donald Sutherland III, staged an involuntary sit-down strike when it toppled the rails and landed in the statuesque sitting position pictured above. Sutherland kept control, and rider and horse landed right side up with no damage done.

Local Horseman

Horsemanship and the training of fine horses is a sport in which Dixon citizens participate to the degree of excellence. Among those interested in this activity is Charles Finley who is pictured above astride his eight-year-old prize winning horse "Carloca". This three gaited animal has been exhibited in many shows throughout the neighborhood this summer and won first in the three-gaited class at the Bradford show. Last year "Carloca" was proclaimed grand champion in his class at the Pecatonica show and that season was awarded 12 blue ribbons and several reds.

By JACK CONNOR

Thanks to plentiful spring rains which made plant growing conditions excellent and increasing emphasis on refuges for migratory waterfowl, the flyways of America will see more ducks this year than for many a season past. Every pot hole, ditch and marsh in the Minnesota area held nesting ducks last spring where two years ago only dry, caked earth could be found. From Baudette on the north to Slayton on the south, ducks are as plentiful as at any time within the memory of some of the oldest citizens.

Pheasants, too, had a good winter, a fine spring breeding season, and a bountiful summer. Throughout the northwest, a mild winter last year saved thousands of upland birds for spring breeding. Although the spring was rather cold and wet and handicapped breeding to some extent, parent stock was hardly enough to survive according to game wardens in Minnesota who report at least a forty per cent increase in the spring hatch when compared with 1937.

Those early season rains had their beneficial effect as they stimulated a luxurious growth of natural pheasant food and cover for the young birds which did hatch out. Other aids to pheasants were the campaigns waged in many states to control predatory raids on the fowl. The destruction of crows and foxes has decimated the ranks of natural enemies of pheasants and quail.

Game Farms

Wisconsin and Minnesota this summer released thousands of upland birds raised on their game farms to augment the natural spring hatch in the field. The Gopher state released 23,000 pheasants alone. These were raised on the Madelia state game farm. Minnesota also put out 15,000 young quail raised on the Carlos Avery game farm. By the second week in August more than 72 of Minnesota's 87 counties had received allotments of state-raised upland game birds.

The success of the cooperative game program in Illinois through 1937 has resulted in considerable expansion in the raising of quail and pheasants this year. 80 brooder units have been in operation. More than 16,000 chicks were delivered to these units. In addition, 7,000 quail were supplied to cooperative quail brooder units during the season.

In Indiana the forces of conservation were also active and state game farms distributed 36,900 day-old pheasant and quail chicks to cooperative brooder units operated by 154 Indiana conservation clubs. The Hoosier state contracted with 400 other organizations for the hatching of 132,875 additional eggs.

Minnesota goes farther than most states by raising game birds through the critical stage of their youth before releasing them from the state farms. Sportsmen's clubs are given birds to release only after the birds have reached the adult stage where they can fend for themselves. The birds are not released to any club unless investigation has shown the club's area has suitable cover and feed.

LAZZERI ASSERTS HE'S DONE WITH CHICAGO'S CUBS

Wrigley Says Tony is Still a Member of The Team

Chicago, Oct. 26—(AP)—The Hot Stove League magnates met in formal session today, poked up the fire and debated the exact status of Tony Lazzeri, the silent San Franciscan, with Chicago's Cubs.

By his pronouncement, "Poosh 'em up" Tony, the once reputed "brains of the New York Yankees," was through with the National League champions.

According to Philip K. Wrigley, Cub owner, Tony was still a Cub, but had permission to find a better job in baseball. The blue slip—an unconditional release—had not been mailed to the utility player-coach, Wrigley said.

Admitting he had no immediate prospects of another job, Lazzeri said in San Francisco he wasn't ready to sit on the bench, and thought he still could play major league ball.

Behind the Puzzle.

Behind the latest Lazzeri puzzle, the boys around the pot-bellied stove found a tangled skein of rumors and reports and statements which stretched back to Oct. 25, 1937, when Wrigley, im-

EAST IS TOPS IN FOOTBALL SO FAR FOR THIS SEASON

Situation May Be Altered Considerably by Games This Week End

New York, Oct. 26—(AP)—The good old east, cradle of football and the object of more than one sneer in recent years from other sections, still is tops for the 1938 season in intersectional football. The situation may be altered considerably this week-end when no fewer than eight top-flight eastern teams meet opposition that may be too tough to handle. But while it lasts, the east can boast a record of 16 victories and only ten defeats in intersectional games this year—a percentage of 615.

The Mid-West comes second on the list with 14 wins and 12 losses for a .538 average. The other major sections are below the .500 mark.

The "catch" in these figures, of course, lies in the fact that eastern and mid-western teams usually knock off a few weak rivals from the south and southwest during the early part of the season. Against each other, the east and mid-west are all square with five victories apiece after Michigan topped Yale, Michigan State knocked off Syracuse and Notre Dame downed Carnegie Tech last Saturday against Colgate's lone victory over Iowa.

Army vs. Notre Dame

This week finds Army coming up against Notre Dame, Duquesne meeting Detroit, New York University playing Ohio State, Catholic University facing St. Louis U. and Boston U. taking on Western Reserve in east-west tussles.

Except for Ohio State, its hard to pick a favorite in that list, especially when it comes to such a traditionally fierce battle as Army-Notre Dame. The east, however, should be able to hold its edge over southern rivals in three tussles, George Washington, unbeaten, untied and unscored on, may have its troubles with Mississippi, conqueror of such rivals as Tulane and Centenary. Villanova, invading the south, is favored over South Carolina, and Boston College, tied but undefeated, should have a comfortable edge over Florida.

Auburn vs. Rice

Auburn, doing well in the Southeastern conference, runs up against Rice, from the southwest loop, which may finally be getting under way after beating Texas for its first victory last Saturday. Another southern team, Centre, is under dog against Washington U. of St. Louis.

The only intersectional tilt involving a Pacific coast team, Michigan State-Santa Clara, may turn out to be one of the day's best. The Broncos are unbeaten after four strenuous games while Michigan State has lost only to Michigan.

ICE HOCKEY TEAMS BEING FORMED FOR EAST COAST WOMEN

New York, Oct. 26—(AP)—The winter half of the silly season has been inaugurated locally by the more-or-less formation of a girls' ice hockey league, with branches of same to be established in Philadelphia and Atlantic City.

Guiding spirits of the movement are the two large Sherwood sisters, Morice and Jean, who are professional fancy skaters but will be amateur hockey players. They have one full team on the ice now and expect to get together seven more.

"Maybe we'll have to cut down on the fierce body checking that the men do," Jean said, seriously, "but outside of that there's no reason why girls can't play just as exciting hockey as the men. We are all good skaters, so all we have to learn is how to knock the puck around."

Frank Boucher, veteran star of the New York Rangers, has yielded to pressure and will coach them.

"The popularity of girls' softball games which were introduced at the Garden this year indicates the public is interested in seeing girl athletes try their hands at other sports," Jean pointed out. "Far as I can see, ice hockey is no more dangerous for women than basketball."

The girls could have learned from the house physician at the Garden that a male hockey player is considered a novice until he has broken at least an arm and a leg and has had his features crocheted with a minimum of 40 stitches. When he has passed these requirements his teammates gradually quit addressing him as "kid."

STORIES IN STAMPS

Quit Politics, but Pierce Became President

HANDSOME genial Franklin Pierce first tasted the thrill of politics as a rising young lawyer of 25, serving in the New Hampshire legislature. By 1832 he had become speaker of that body, and the following year he entered the United States House of Representatives.

So, he assumed, his political career was cast. A friend of President Jackson, he supported administration measures, and in 1837 he stepped up to the Senate. But there his disillusionment began. Pierce, being its youngest member, found himself sadly overshadowed by a galaxy of older and wiser heads, such as Benton and Clay and Webster. Before long Pierce saw he could make no great headway, and resigned his seat to return to the practice of law at Concord, N. H., where he became federal district attorney.

In 1845 he was offered the nomination for governor of his state, also an appointment to fill an unexpired term in the U. S. Senate, and the next year the position of attorney general in Polk's cabinet. But he rejected them all. Pierce was determined to stay out of politics. Yet six years later the turn of events found him drafted as a "dark horse" candidate for the presidency on the Democratic ticket and he was swept into office. He is shown here on a stamp of the U. S. regular series, enlarged. (Copyright, 1938, NEA Service, Inc.)

DON'T MARRY THE MAN

By Jeanne Bowman

The Characters
Kathleen Gregory goes West incognito to secure a right-of-way for the Gregory mine shaft from MacDonald. Donald MacDonald hates the Gregorys, suspects Kathleen's identity.
Bridget: Kathleen's companion.

Yesterday: Balmy gives Kathleen the key to the MacDonald-Gregory feud—a half a blood-stained shirt—and tells her to piece it to the other half.

Chapter 24
Hours of Torture
New Year's Eve and the MacDonalds arrived together.

Kathleen, standing at the window, looking down at Donald MacDonald, thought she'd never seen anyone as handsome.

The disturbing, quick smile, the quickening light in his eyes, then at her beckoning the sure, swift stride that brought him up the Gregory steps and through the door before she could gather her reserve about her.

"Seems like we've been away a year," he greeted, lifting the bandaged hands. "How are they?" Mother had a letter from the doctor. He says you'll be strumming the keys with them before spring and no grafting necessary."

Bridget came in before Kathleen had time to answer, and still holding the bandaged hands, Donald turned to her. "Into your glad rags, we're stepping out tonight. Hotel for dinner, then on to a dance. How about it, Cleo, feel up to it?"

"Right now," answered Kathleen. "I could climb mountains and do a Suzy Q on the peak."

She felt that evening that she had climbed mountains and the air at the top was rarefied, leaving her buoyant, carefree.

They returned before midnight and Kathleen had the memory of the first and last and many other dances with Donald and his solicitude concerning her injured hands.

"You girls go on in," Donald ordered.

They went in. A few moments later the midnight chimes rang out and on the last echo there was a rap at the door, and in walked Donald with an armload of wood and a hod of coal.

Another rap and Norman came in with a second load.

"Why the two?" inquired Bridget.

"Because," answered Donald, "something tells me one of the two of you will be having a home of your own before this year ends, and we would bring you both good fare."

Kathleen looked at Bridget and was astonished at the radiance she saw. Bridget was agreeing. She was looking at Donald as though, already, there was some understanding between them.

A pain, greater than the searing of her hands, seared her heart; a sickening nauseating pain. She slipped from the room and went to the veranda to look out on the cold hills, the painted cliffs shrouded in snow, the white blaze of stars.

She knew now with a sense of defeated finality that she was in love with Donald MacDonald; a love as hopeless as her quest for the right-of-way. She couldn't fight Bridget even if there were hopes of an ultimate victory.

Donald found her there. He approached, warily, and Kathleen, turning, thought they were like two fencers, each waiting for the other to take the offensive so they could gauge their defense accordingly.

"You shouldn't be here," he ventured.

"I Need Some Advice"

"I know," she agreed with a softness in her voice he'd never heard before, "but I like to come out and see the bigness of things. I wonder why people who live in the open like this haven't broader, more tolerant views."

"Balmy says horizons are individual and not limited by physical outlook."

"That settles it," laughed Kathleen. "I wouldn't attempt to argue with him."

"Wait here for me. I've something I want to ask you. I need some advice."

He returned in a few moments with blankets and rugs and they settled on a broad veranda sill.

"You've changed a lot since you've been here, Cleo."

"Changed?"

He sat beside her, his arm bracing her. "I should say, developed. At first you went around with a chip on your shoulder."

"That's still there, but it's been there so long it's worn a groove to fit into and doesn't knock off as easily."

MacDonald laughed. "You would explain it that way," he chided, "but I meant you've been too busy helping others to think about the chip."

"I don't deserve any credit for that. I just happened to be ambling past Mrs. MacBride's when she rushed out looking for someone to stay with Laura."

"And of course you were forced to go after a local doctor? And you had to bring Laura, the first of your patients, into your own quarters? And of course you had to stamp out the fire with your hands because there wasn't time to go for water if Balmy's Bible wasn't to be burned?"

Kathleen glanced up swiftly, but MacDonald's face was too breath-takingly close. "Any one would have reacted the same way," she murmured. "But what has all of this to do with the value of the pound sterling?"

MacDonald looked out across the snow, up to the blue-black sky with its blazing white stars, then softly he spoke. "Just this. Suppose a man were in love with a girl who came from a world entirely different from his; whose people lived across the continent; whose . . . say religion, was totally different from his. Would he have the right to make her forsake her people, her world, her religion, for him. And would she do it?"

Kathleen had tensed. Bridget's people lived in another social world; lived a thousand miles from Neutrality, two thousand from Los Angeles.

Poor Bridget, Kathleen tried to put herself in her friend's place. Would she give up her family, the very background of her individuality for the man she loved, when they had done nothing to deserve such desertion?

Afraid to look at MacDonald, lest he see what was in her eyes, loving him with a love that seemed half hatred because it fought such havoc in her heart, she studied. At least she could help Bridget.

"Only One Like Her"

She answered his question with firm finality. "A man who would demand a girl sacrifice her principles in such a fashion, doesn't love the girl enough to think of marriage."

"But, Cleo, he does love her tremendously. He's fought it from the moment he first saw her. God knows she's the last person in a world full of girls that he would have chosen if he'd had any say. He hadn't. He knows there's only one like her; only one as completely fine and adorable."

What he is going to do about it? Kathleen felt she could not stand the torture of listening to that low, passionate voice, expressing its love for another. She slipped from the sill. "Accept her as she is, and remember that she is as she is, because of her heritage."

MacDonald stood beside her. "I can't do that! Isn't there any other way?"

Down the trail yellow lanterns came swinging, polka dots of moving light. Voices came softly, the sound of footsteps crunching in the snow.

A mischievous smile appeared on Kathleen's face. "Once upon a time you suggested Balmy's influence would be good for my soul. Why don't you try some? He'll teach you the real meaning of love. You shouldn't expect the girl to do what you say she can't do."

She hurried into the house to be ready to receive her guests. This was the night one paid off old debts. Kathleen had settled her debt to Bridget.

But all through the hours, and until dawn came gliding across the snow, first gray, then golden, she thought of that one hour with Donald MacDonald, and she wondered how he had known what happened in Balmy's cot.

Out of that evening she had only the cold consolation of Donald looking upon her as a friend. She must build on this. It was one step towards the fulfillment of her new plan. She must teach him to respect and trust the Gregorys.

The days that followed were lonely days. The use of hands, she thought, like love, was something one didn't miss until denied. Bridget, absorbed in the writing of her book, and in her dreams, moved about in silent radiance.

Kathleen spent her hours visiting the Gregory mine homes, learning gradually to grasp handles and handle bedding, listening to stories of the old world and the early mining days, welcomed always as an eager listener is welcomed.

The mine doctor, meeting her at the advent of a lusty-voiced brother to Laura, frowned at her and suggested a tonic. Unable to convince her she needed one he appealed to Balmy.

"It's her heart, not her system, that needs a tonic," the old man said.

For Kathleen's evenings were not lonely, they were hours of exquisite torture. The MacDonalds were tireless in their efforts to make life pleasant for the two girls. And Kathleen was tireless in her effort to make life pleasant for Bridget. She turned her charm on Norman, contriving to leave Donald and Bridget alone together, and was humiliated constantly by Norman's obvious preference for the Irish girl's company. Was she so unattractive that no man wanted her company?

It didn't make it easier to know that Donald saw this and sought to take the sting out of it by treating her with especial tenderness and consideration.

How to Bring Back Prosperity

"Just like that!" Business Economist Roger Babson explains with gestures his theory that unemployment would vanish in six months if capital, labor and distributors allowed interest, wages and prices to find "natural levels" instead of "pegging" them artificially. Mr. Babson is pictured at the Babson Institute, Wellesley, Mass., where he made his argument.

ANNOUNCE MAGIC NEW SPRAY WHICH ENLARGES FLOWERS

Chapel Hill, N. C., Oct. 26.—(AP)—A magic new spray which grows larger flowers was announced to the National Academy of Sciences.

The bigger flowers are only one of the spectacular results of spraying this mixture on plants. It also makes possible new hybrids—that is, crosses in breeding plants—realizing a long-sought goal of agricultural scientists.

The spray is an emulsion of oil, mixed with colchicine, which has been a standard medical remedy for gout for nearly 2,000 years.

One year ago Dr. Albert F. Blakeslee, of the Carnegie Institution of Washington's station for experimental evolution at Cold Springs Harbor, New York, announced to the academy discovery that colchicine would cause strange changes in plants. It doubled their chromosomes, and the substances that govern heredity.

Since then the oil spray has been developed as a means of applying the colchicine. Dr. Blakeslee, with E. W. Sinnott and H. E. Warmke, reported today the first practical results, obtained on more than 40 species of plants.

LOCAL MAN GETS NEW IDEAS FROM NATIONAL MEETING

Frank L. Randall who has just returned from the American Cemetery Owners' convention in Memphis, Tenn., reports that rather than a vacation the meeting meant five days and nights of hard work.

There were 267 owners of cemeteries present from every state in the Union, every one of them vitally interested in every problem such as maintenance costs, trust funds, proper construction and landscaping. Speakers of national prominence were on the program.

"It seems," Mr. Randall commented, "that when owners of cemeteries spend considerable money to attend these conventions, they really intend to get their money's worth. I made particular effort to contact owners of cemeteries in communities the size of Dixon, and I found many of them and obtained some very fine ideas that will be put into use in this community. On the trip to and from Memphis I visited 18 memorial parks from which I gathered some very fine ideas on landscaping and building construction."

Mrs. Randall accompanied her husband on the trip and even though a program was arranged for the ladies, she was so vitally interested in the work that she attended every meeting.

Suspend Director of Lincoln State School

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 26.—(AP)—Director A. L. Bowen of the State Department of Welfare said Dr. F. A. Causey had been suspended as managing director of the state school and colony at Lincoln.

Bowen said Dr. William Fox, assistant managing officer, would supplant Dr. Causey pending "an investigation" the nature of which he declined to disclose.

Dr. Causey formerly was attached to the Dunning State Hospital. The Lincoln institution houses approximately 4,000 feeble-minded patients of all ages.

Director Bowen said A. J. Brumleve, superintendent of charities, was at the Lincoln institution "to inquire into several matters in controversy."

STUDENTS SOON FORGOT WHAT THEY HAD READ

Iowa City, Ia.—(AP)—Memory tests at the University of Iowa showed that 6,605 sixth grade school children forgot what they had read almost as soon as they read it.

Herbert F. Spitzer made the tests for a master's degree. He gave each child two 600-word articles and quizzed them after the readings. He found the children forgot 44 per cent of the facts contained in the articles shortly after reading. A week later they had forgotten 67 per cent.

Spitzer thereupon devised a "recall" test to be applied immediately after reading. These were found to reduce forgetfulness considerably.

Bombs and Shells Pave Way for Japan's Steamroller

Slowly, but surely, the steamroller of Japan's modern military might is forcing its way against stubborn Chinese resistance toward Hankow, vital point in North China's defenses. And its way is smoothed by the leveling effect of terrific barrages from field guns and airplanes. In the photo above, Japanese soldiers wait patiently beside their battleflags while the aerial and artillery bombardment on the Chinese defenses in the background paves the way for their advance. This dramatic demonstration of modern military tactics was snapped during an attack on Wuhshueh, Yangtse River town near Hankow.

Tax Expert Looks Over John Public in Search for Revenue for Arms and Relief

(Editor's Note: Higher taxes for the little fellow? This question is discussed in the following analysis of individual income tax problems.)

By IRVING PERLMETER.

Washington, Oct. 26.—(AP)—Little man, the federal tax expert is looking you over in his search for more revenue to pay for armaments, relief and other governmental costs.

He has tapped the high income brackets for about all they can stand, and he is wondering if it is politically and economically feasible to tackle you next.

Last year 5,447,439 persons filed income tax returns. Of these 2,557,836 were non-taxable, 2,237,737 paid minimum rates, about 5,000 showed incomes of more than $100,000 and only 61 had incomes of more than $1,000,000.

LaFollette's Suggestion.

Senator La Follette (Prog.-Wis.) an exponent of broadening the income tax base, has suggested both a reduction of personal exemptions and an increase in rates for incomes below $100,000. Thus his proposal would affect nearly 99 per cent of the persons who file returns.

Both the little and big fellows also would be affected by proposals to increase income taxes 10 per cent to pay for new armaments.

The present personal exemptions are $1,000 for a single person and $2,500 for the head of a family, plus $400 for each dependent. If, as LaFollette suggests, the exemptions be cut to $800 for single persons and $2,000 for family heads, thousands of those who had to file returns but paid no taxes would be drawn into the collector's net.

So-Called Normal Rate.
The so-called normal income tax rate on individual is a flat four per cent, but the surtaxes run from an additional four per cent on net incomes between $1,000 and $6,000 to 75 per cent on incomes of more than $5,000,000.

LaFollette has asked that rates be boosted two to 10 per cent for each income class up to $100,000. He has estimated that the additional revenue, at 1936 levels, would be $283,700,000. Total individual income taxes collected in the last fiscal year were $1,286,311, 81. A straight 10 per cent additional armaments tax thus would add about $100,000,000 to individual income levies.

DARKTOWN STRUTTING

NORTH
The cities of the North must be prepared to absorb another great migration of some 3,000,000 Negroes from the South, says Ollie Stewart, Negro journalist, in the November issue of The Commentator magazine.

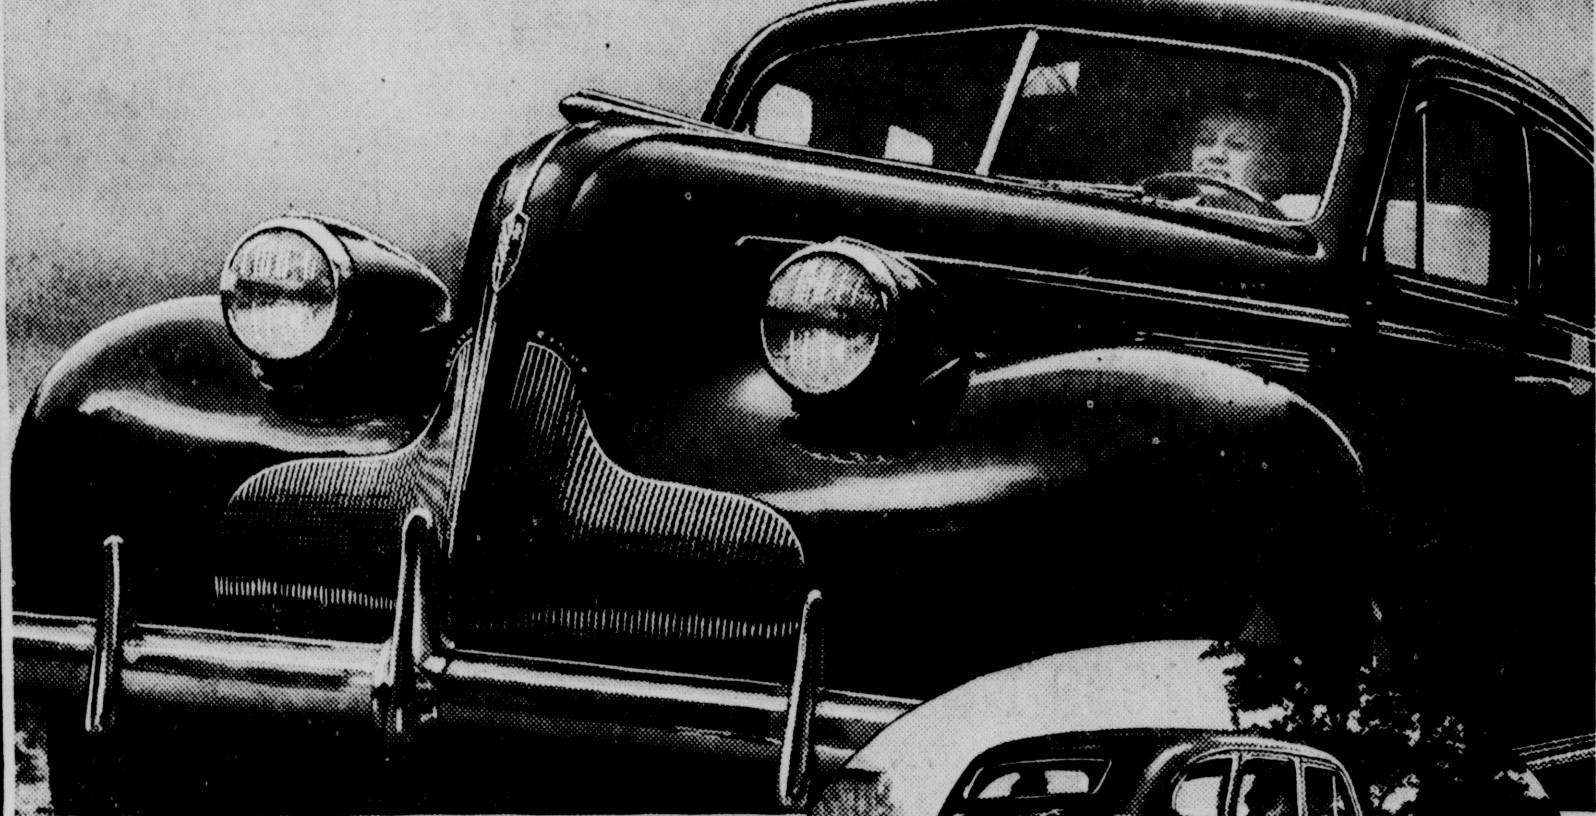

The migration got under way about 1936 and has been steadily gathering momentum. It is a direct result of the loss by the United States of a great share of the world's cotton market and the improved machinery for cotton picking. More will go when the picker becomes more efficient and economical.

The Negro heads north because he must eat. He can expect little help remaining in the South. The South can't help itself. And if it could, the Negro, judging by his exclusion from the Wages and Hours Bill benefits and from southern unemployment laws, would still be left out in the cold.

To the large cities of the North, the exodus means that already jammed relief rolls and WPA rosters must be packed a lot more. More money will have to be appropriated for additional school children. More funds will be necessary for hospitalization. There will be more fire hazards, more crime, and a bigger drain upon the finances of charitable organizations.

Since the crowning of Egbert of Mercia in 785, anointing with oil has been part of the coronation ceremony of English kings.

How to pass friends and recognize people

In every 1939 Buick you get the skilled engineering and sturdy quality traditional to Buick—enriched by all the extra value which General Motors science and Buick workmanship can provide.

THERE you sit in a seat like an easy chair, comfortable as a puppy on his pillow.

The wheel in your hand has a fine and friendly feel—the treadle under your foot is a pressing invitation to travel.

You look out through windows deeper all around—through as much as 413 added square inches of safety glass.

You spot your path through windshields that are higher, over hoods that are lower—you've got a front-porch view of the whole wide world—that sitting-in-a-bathtub feeling's gone!

That's just one of the things we were after when we planned this new Buick. Better aerodynamics was another. So was the highly effective "catwalk-cooling," practiced on Europe's high-speed racing cars.

It's because our designers achieved these things without straining for effect that Buick's the beauty of this and many a season to come!

There are scores of fresh advances to please you: A gearshift out of knee-way. The true "full float" BuicOil Springing ride. And the quick, quiet Dynaflash straight-eight engine which keeps Buick so easily out in front!

We can't begin to list them here. But your Buick dealer can show them to you. Go see him—right now!

NO OTHER CAR IN THE WORLD HAS ALL THESE FEATURES
